No ifs and buts in dealing with terror, Modi tells US lawmakers

YESHI SELI @ New Delhi

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi on Thursday called terrorism "an enemy of humanity" and said there can be "no ifs or buts" in dealing with it, in his address to the US Congress. He made history by becoming the first Indian to address a joint session of the US Congress for the second time.

"Terrorism is an enemy of humanity and there can be no ifs or buts in dealing with it," Modi told US lawmakers.

He made a veiled attack on China, saying: "The dark clouds of coercion and confrontation are casting their shadow in the Indo-Pacific."

Known for his alliterations, Modi referred to the phenomenal growth in Artificial Intelligence technology, adding another AI — America and India — was emerging, drawing applause. His address drew about 15 standing ovations.

A joint statement after Modi's summit with US President Joe Biden said both sides will focus on measures to facilitate greater technology sharing, including co-production in semiconductors, 5G and 6G telecom, quantum and high-end computing. India and the US signed multiple pacts to push bilateral commerce, technology transfer, joint development of technologies in the area of semiconductor, 5G and 6G telecom and open source-based telecom network, quantum and high-performance computing etc. Both Modi and Biden emphasised the need to put in place a "Trusted Network" and "Trusted Sources" bilateral framework.

"Very clearly, technology, particularly advanced technology, across all domains ranging from defence to space and energy is one of the most important substantive outcomes," Foreign Secretary Vinay Kwatra told reporters.

On the trade front, both sides agreed to end six trade disputes at the WTO. India also decided to remove retaliatory customs duties on 28 US products.

At a joint press meet after the summit, Modi brushed aside a query on allegations of human rights violations in India. "We have always proved that democracy can deliver. And when I say deliver, this is regardless of caste, creed, religion, gender. There's absolutely no space for discrimination... If there are no human rights, then it's not a democracy," Modi said. PM's remark on Kamala Harris draws applause

Speaking about migration, the prime minister called the US a country that has embraced people from around the world. He said there were many with Indian roots in the US Congress. Then, looking back at US Vice President Kamala Harris, Modi, said "There is one behind me, who has made history!" drawing widespread applause.

Modi, Biden toast ginger ale at WH dinner

As both PM Narendra Modi and US President Joe Biden don't drink alcohol, the two leaders raised the customary toast, holding glasses of ginger ale. "The good news for both of us is we both don't drink," Biden joked and told Modi when there's no alcohol in the glass, it must be held with the left hand.

Amid AAP hiccup, Oppn vows to jointly fight BJP

Next meet in Cong-ruled Shimla to give their strategy a final shape

RAMASHANKAR @ Patna

LEADERS of 15 Opposition parties on Friday resolved to contest the 2024 Lok Sabha elections together at their four-hour long meeting here, though a grumbling AAP demanded its price for joining the ranks.

AAP sought to hold a gun to the Congress' temple, saying any alliance with it would be difficult unless it agrees to oppose the Centre's Delhi ordinance in Parliament, which led to some angry exchanges before NCP chief Sharad Pawar doused the fire.

In all, 32 leaders attended the meeting hosted by Bihar CM Nitish Kumar.

Congress president Mallikarjun Kharge said the next Opposition meeting would be held in Shimla on July 10 or 12 to give a final shape to their strategy. Crafting a common agenda was work in progress, he informed. "We will have to evolve separate plans for every state and we will work together to dethrone the BJP at the Centre," he added.

Lalu asks Rahul to get married

Lalu was in his elements when he suggested to Rahul Gandhi to get married. "It's time you get married. We all will be part of the wedding party," he said at the joint press meet. "Now, that you have said it, it will happen," Rahul said in his response.

Congress leader Rahul Gandhi said opposition leaders, he said, might have some differences but they would have to work together by being flexible.

A vintage Lalu was on display, as he said, "I have regained my health fully and I am ready to fight against Narendra Modi."

West Bengal CM Mamata Banerjee said, "We are opposed to BJP's dictatorship and atrocity."

Sparks flew after Delhi CM Arvind Kejrwal alleged a hidden understanding between the Grand Old Party and the BJP while seeking a commitment from the Congress on the Delhi ordinance. Congress leader KC Venugopal in his rebuttal wondered, "How is it possible? Can Congress reach an agreement with BJP?" He got support from NC's Omar Obdullah, who said Kejriwal should look within before leveling any accusation against any other party. "Where were you when Article 370 was revoked by the Centre?" he taunted. The matter was settled after Pawar played peacemaker.

Will give 40% commission proof, says Kempanna

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

KARNATAKA State Contractors' Association president D Kempanna on Friday urged Chief Minister Siddaramaiah to take steps to clear the dues of contractors, amounting to Rs 20,000 crore.

The previous BJP government had demanded 40% commission to clear these bills, which means a bribe of about Rs 8,000 crore, he alleged and said, "I am ready to produce proof in this regard."

Kempanna and other office-bearers of the association met Siddaramaiah here. Addressing them, the CM alleged that the previous BJP government's financial irresponsibility and commission menace caused serious problems for contractors.

He said the state's financial condition worsened under the BJP rule and it may take some time to recover. P4

FIR against teacher for beating Class 4 student

PRAVEEN KUMAR @ Bengaluru

AN FIR has been registered against a 35-year-old teacher of a private school at Kadugodi in Whitefield for beating a Class 4 student.

The incident came to light on Wednesday after the boy returned home from school with bluish marks on his face and body. When his mother questioned him, he revealed that he was allegedly beaten up by his teacher.

Immediately, the boy's parents, who are also teachers, rushed to the school and complained to the principal. The parents, who watched the CCTV footage of the classroom, found that the teacher had beaten their son 43 times. The school reportedly terminated the services of the social science teacher after the incident. The boy was allegedly beaten up on Wednesday between 9.15 am and 9.40 am. After a complaint was filed by the boy's father, the Kadugodi police filed a case against the teacher. P5

Delimitation panel work to delay BBMP polls

Headed by Palike chief commissioner, the commission will submit its report in 12 weeks

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

A Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) delimitation commission, headed by the Palike Chief Commissioner, will be formed, read an official gazette of the state government. The commission has three months to submit its report, which might defer BBMP polls further.

The Karnataka High Court on June 19 had noted, "As such, we grant 12 weeks' time to the state government for fresh exercise of delimitation process by strictly adhering to the prescribed guidelines and the relevant provisions of law." The verdict came after hearing a writ petition filed by former mayor BN Manjunath Reddy.

Complying with the order, the urban development department has issued a notification stating that a four-member commission will be formed, headed by BBMP Chief Commissioner Tushar Girinath. BDA Commissioner, Bengaluru Urban DC, and Special Commissioner (Revenue), BBMP will be the other members of the commission.

The commission will submit its report in 12 weeks. The commission was also told to undertake fresh exercise of delimitation by strictly adhering to the prescribed guidelines and the relevant provisions of law as directed by the high court. The commission members will take up a study by visiting various spots.

Earlier, the state government had ordered reconstituting the BBMP restructuring committee headed by former chief secretary BS Patil. Besides Patil, the panel comprised former BBMP commissioner Siddaiah and urban expert Ravichandar.

According to the order, the committee will continue with the exercise of reimaging Bengaluru's governance and administration covering BBMP, urban development department, BDA, BWSSB, BMRDA, DULT, BMTC, BESCOM and other agencies, which are stakeholders. The committee is also assigned "to work towards implementation of the recommendations subject to government approval and in line with their mandate and to improve the quality of life of all citizens in Bengaluru" and "to strengthen brand Bengaluru".

Metro Pink Line all set for Dec 2024 launch

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE work on the 21.25-km Pink Line of Bengaluru Metro between Nagawara and Kalena Agrahara is all set to meet its December 2024 deadline.

Metro connectivity between Outer Ring Road and Bannerghatta Road will change the city's traffic scene completely, say top officials of the Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Ltd (BMRCL).

With underground tunnelling hiccups well behind, things appeared smooth when The New Indian Express was given access to three stations along the 13.89-km underground corridor between Dairy Circle and Nagawara of this Reach-6 line.

A view of an underconstruction Shivajinagar Metro Station

The elevated stretch running for 7.5 km from Tavarekere (earlier Swagath Cross) to Kalena Agrahara (Gottigere), contracted to GR Infra Limited, now finds itself in a safe position. "The elevated portion will be ready well before the line's target of December next year. Of the 251 segmental spans, 43 are yet to be completed. We are looking at commencing laying of tracks by October this year. Work to build the stations have progressed steadily and only finishing works remain," a senior official said.

The underground network has been divided into four packages to facilitate speedier construction: Dairy Circle to Vellara Junction (RT-01); Vellara Junction to Shivaji Nagar (RT-02); Shivajinagar to Pottery Town (RT-03) and Tannery Road to Nagawara (RT-04). Of these, RT-03 and RT-04 were contracted to Larsen & Toubro Limited and they have completed the tunnelling work.

Subrahmanya Gudge, Chief Engineer (Underground-1), said "The other two packages where tunnelling is on are progressing well. A total of 78% tunnelling has been completed at Jayanagar Fire station near Dairy Circle (4,172m of 5,343m) in the RT-01 package contracted to AFCONS and 50% completed in Tannery Road to North Ramp (3,185m of 6,370m) in the RT-04 package contracted to ITD Cementation Ltd."

Dayanand Shetty, Chief Engineer (Underground-2), said, "Tunga and Bhadra TBMs are still tunnelling between Venkateshpura and KG Halli. These TBMs will break through at KG Halli station before being launched for final drive between KG Halli and Nagawara. It will be done by February 2024."

Of the three out of 12 UG stations TNIE visited, the station structure was ready at MG Road and granite laying work had begun while at Shivajinagar, 94% of civil works were ready. Langford Station, which goes down to 75ft, was being constructed with a different construction strategy adopted to speed it up.

Police to seek edu dept probe into Montessori girl assault

'Teacher beat my son for 30 mins'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

AFTER a video footage of a girl being assaulted by a boy in a Montessori school in the city went viral, the Bengaluru Police have asked the education department to investigate the incident.

Following the incident, Bengaluru police said that they were initially investigating the matter, but the girl's parents refused to file a complaint against the school authorities after they spoke to the authorities regarding the incident.

However, the police have said that they will approach the education department, seeking an investigation.

Officers of the Subramanyapura Police Station told TNIE, "A two-and-a-half-year-old girl and a five-year-old boy are involved in the incident. According to the school authorities, an attendant had left them alone for a few minutes as two other kids had to be taken to the washroom. Other attendants were either busy or on sick leave. Due to this, the parents decided not to file a complaint. So, we will not be investigating the matter." However, they said the education department will probe into the incident to find out if any action can be taken against the school authorities.

The incident came to light Wednesday when the girl came home, and her parents noticed bite marks and bruises on her hands. The parents approached the school, and saw the CCTV footage. Netizens were outraged after the video went viral. The Montessori authorities have refused to comment on the incident.

"THE teacher has been booked under the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection of Children) Act, 2015. Further investigation is on," said a police officer.

The boy's younger sister also studies in the same school. Two days before the incident, the teacher called the boy's parents to inform them that his homework was incomplete. The parents sent a note asking the teacher to ensure their son made note of his homework in his diary. It is said that this communication between the teacher and parents created a problem for the boy.

The boy's father said that being a lecturer himself, he knows there will be discipline issues with some students and teachers initiate corrective steps. "The CCTV footage showed that the teacher, after reading the note, beat my son for almost 30 mins. She hit him 43 times. When we went to the school to complain. The management said the services of the teacher have been terminated. Dissatisfied, I filed a complaint against the teacher," he said.

The headmaster said, "The services of the teacher have been terminated. We are aware of the police complaint. The CCTV footage confirms that the student was assaulted."

BMRCL uses unique 'top-down' approach for Langford stn

S LALITHA @ Bengaluru

THE underground Langford Metro Station stands out when compared to the 17 other stations that dot the two phases of the Namma Metro. Thanks to the terrain, which is not rocky, a different approach has been taken to construct it. It would reduce construction time by at least three months. The New Indian Express visited the station coming up on 1.5 acres of defence land.

Langford Station, which finds place in the underground corridor, running 13.89 km in the Reach-6 line from Nagawara to Kalena Agrahara, is 75ft below the ground.

Chief Engineer, underground, Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL), Subrahmanya Gudge told The New Indian Express, "We have adopted the top-down approach while building half of the station as the terrain is not rocky. This has been done for many stations in Delhi."

Regarding the technical aspects, Gudge said the method involves two temporary structures (side walls) on either side for the structure box with excavation done in phases.

"Excavation is done and then the top slab is laid. Excavation is done again, and another base slab is laid. The method is much quicker. For other underground stations, the construction is bottom to top with all excavation done at once. Safety- wise, both the methods rank the same," he said.

The contract was awarded for civil works for the Langford stretch in December 2019. As of now, 50 per cent of the civil works are done. "The pandemic and delay in permission to cut over 150 trees for the station building deferred the work," Gudge added.

Assistant Executive Engineer, BMRCL, GA Aravind, said the phase-II underground corridor stretches from Dairy Circle to Vellara Junction.

BMRCL Managing Director Anjum Parwez said, "The soil character permitted us to use this method. Reach-6 will be fully in place by December 2024."

PETER VIDAL

24TH June: I'd like to remind you about one of my favourite way-out theories. You might have heard of the concept of many universes as well as our own, but you probably didn't know that these days we just talk about the multiverse. We believe that there are an infinite number of worlds occupying the same space as ours but in different dimensions!

ARIES (Mar 21 - Apr. 20)
You're now spiralling along, heading for a fairly dramatic period, and you should keep your schedule as free as possible to allow for changing moods and circumstances. Also, if a friend is responsible for a catalogue of errors, don't be too hard on them. Step in and help instead.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 - May 21)
Letting go is never easy. However, if you do what you know to be right in the long-term, even if this means going against current desires, you'll free yourself from a series of awkward dilemmas. You need to be able to stand aside and see your ambitions through critical eyes.

GEMINI (May 22 - June 21)
You'll probably be at full stretch emotionally. The immediate areas of concern involve your social life, children and money, in each of which you should work for the best while sensibly guarding against disappointment. And, if you're too busy, then heed the lessons - and be more discriminating in future.

CANCER (June 22 - July 23)
This is a positive time and you'll soon be hitting a peak on a number of cycles. The key to success is to do everything with total and absolute concentration. If someone tries to distract you, ignore them! You can ask the experts but, then, in some senses you're an expert too.

LEO (July 24 - Aug. 23)
This is certain to be a time of arguments and hassles. If it's not, you're missing out! The point is that if you are prepared to risk disagreements you'll clear the air and do yourself a power of good. Honesty can be uncomfortable, but that doesn't mean that it's not necessary.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 - Sept. 23)
You'll be on twenty-four hour call, clearing up partners' emotional, professional and personal crises. Don't worry if friends seem too critical - it's just their way. Besides, there might be some good common sense in their sharp words. Listen well.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 - Oct. 23)
The overall situation is still potentially profoundly chaotic, but even in the midst of disorder there is much to be thankful for. Plus, an older friend might come to the rescue before long. This simple fact is due to transform your life over the coming few months.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 - Nov. 22)
Estrangements, either by design or accident, are likely. But then, so are sudden and intense new meetings. In fact, anyone you meet now is likely to arouse extremely strong reactions, although whether of attraction or repulsion, only time will tell!

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 - Dec. 22)
You may be thrown into fresh uncertainty. The question is how you deal with it. Right now you may be advised to put your fantasies into action, no matter how many times you've been told that you're not up to it. All you need is the right support from the best people.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)
You may have to face the world head-on today. You cannot make difficult people or situations go away by ignoring them, so you may as well get into the spirit of the times: fact is indeed a great deal stranger than fiction. But then, what's new?

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 - Feb. 19)
Secret developments may be brought into the open if you ask the right questions. It is doubtful whether you will ever build up a full picture of what is going on at the moment, but at least you can fit some pieces into the jigsaw. A little fancy foot-work should help.

PISCES (Feb. 20 - Mar 20)
Left to yourself you will have a fairly relaxed time but, if you're not a hermit, you'll be involved with other people. And, once that happens, you'll be sucked into their lives, with all their many dramatic ups and downs. If that prospect doesn't delight you, then stand back.

Self-diagnosis on the rise, use of online medical info rampant

Experts advise people to consult medical professionals to avoid misdiagnosis

NAMRATA SINDWANI
@ Bengaluru

INCREASINGLY, humans are indulging in a tendency to relate with information available on the internet and self-diagnose ailments they don't actually suffer from, say doctors.

Dr Latha K, professor at the Department of Mental Health Education, National Institute of Mental Health and Neurosciences (Nimhans), described this phenomenon as the 'Barnum Effect', and said it creates a cognitive bias in a person's mind. Drawing parallels to reading horoscopes, she said people believe a personality description that applies specifically to them and is surprisingly accurate, though it is simply a generic and open-ended piece of information.

"The rising incidence of self-diagnosis has resulted in increasing cases of misdiagnosis," said Dr Prabha Chandra, Dean (behavioural sciences), Nimhans. She gave an example of a person who constantly loses focus or procrastinates, and who tends to overanalyse a situation and diagnose oneself with Attention Deficit Health Disorder (ADHD). In reality, multiple factors can contribute to a lack of focus or unwillingness to work. "People read superficial symptoms online and diagnose themselves with serious ailments," she added.

With social media, the amount of information available online has multiplied exponentially. Even trained professionals face difficulty in consuming and sharing genuine content, Dr Latha said. "During the pandemic, misinformation shared on social media, remedies for treating Covid on Whatsapp groups, and false information about vaccines led to major vaccine hesitancy among people," she added.

On the flip side, doctors said social media was successful in disseminating information during Covid and other mass campaigns like polio vaccine, family planning and tobacco use. However, they advised people to consult medical professionals rather than self-diagnose incorrectly.

At a recently organised Nimhans workshop, professors from the Indian Institute of Journalism and New Media (IIJNM) highlighted how it becomes difficult to access verified information in the sea of online content. They advised people to use tools like reverse image search, Google Lens and other fact-check tools to verify the authenticity of an image and video content circulated online.

JP Nagar police initiated action against two minors in conflict with the law and recovered 44 stolen two-wheelers worth Rs 35 lakh from them.

The duo were caught in connection with a case in which they stole the scooter belonging to a contractor parked outside his house. The boys, both aged 16, admitted to have committed thefts of two-wheelers across the city and cases were registered in Kadugodi, HAL, KR Puram, Banashankari and other police stations. Based on their information, 44 scooters worth Rs 35 lakh which they had sold have been recovered.

"The minors said they committed the offence to make easy money and sold the scooters for about Rs 4,000 to Rs 5,000 claiming they were working with a seizure company and they would bring the documents later," the police said.

NO WARRANT TO INTERFERE

HC dismisses MLA's plea against pardon in illegal ore export case

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court dismissed a petition filed by Shree Mallikarjun Shipping Private Limited and its managing director and Congress MLA Satish Krishna Sail, accused in a case of illegal export of iron ore, questioning the order passed by the special court granting pardon to an accused in the case as he turned approver.

Justice M Nagaprasanna passed the order dismissing the petition against the pardon granted to Sushil Kumar Valecha, director of Shri Lal Mahal Limited, New Delhi, by the Special Court in October 2021.

The judge said the apex court holds that if by tendering of pardon, the prosecution thinks that it will be in the best interest of the successful prosecution of other offenders, whose conviction is not easy without the approver's testimony, the court should accept it. Therefore, the special court allowed the application filed by Sushil Kumar Valecha, who is accused No 4, seeking pardon... Therefore, "I do not find any warrant to interfere with the order passed by the special court," the judge observed.

In its objections filed with the petition, the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) stated that full disclosure of facts by Valecha would be imperative for the possible conviction of the co-accused.

Shree Mallikarjun Shipping Private Limited and Satish Sail are accused No 5 and 6 respectively, in the case registered by CBI in 2012 under the Prevention of Corruption Act.

Court rejects KIOCL's plea for relief over cancelled flight

YATHIRAJU @ Bengaluru

IN a setback to KIOCL Limited, formerly known as Kudremukh Iron Ore Company Limited, a Government of India enterprise, the Bangalore Urban Second Additional District Consumer Disputes Redressal Commission dismissed its complaint, seeking direction to ACS Air Charter Service India to pay compensation for cancelling a chartered flight. KIOCL had booked the flight for a minister and his team to fly from New Delhi to Mangaluru and back, due to an exigency.

KIOCL booked 10 passenger aircraft with ACS Air Charter Service India for Rs 29.20 lakh for the minister and others to travel on February 19, 2022, from New Delhi to Mangaluru, and back on February 21, 2022. Though the booking was confirmed on February 10, 2022, ACS Air Charter Service India expressed its regret and cancelled the booking, and promised to refund the advance amount.

Due to this, KIOCL booked another chartered flight, paying Rs 64.31 lakh. Later, KIOCL moved the consumer commission, seeking direction to ACS Air Charter Service India to pay the difference amount of Rs 35.10 lakh with 12 per cent interest, on the ground of deficiency of service.

In a counter, ACS Air Charter Service India contended before the commission that it had expressed its inability to provide a chartered flight on the booked date due to continuous elections, and the advance paid by KIOCL was refunded, after communicating the same to the complainant a day in advance of the travel date. It also provided an alternative option for confirmation. KIOCL, however, without giving confirmation, booked another flight by paying a higher price.

After hearing the parties, the Commission comprising president KS Bilagi and members B Devaraju and V Anuradha, said when ACS Air Charter Service India expressed its inability to provide a charter flight due to operational contingency, and immediately provided an alternative option, KIOCL, for reasons best known to it, neither confirmed nor declined to take the option. Under such circumstances, the act of KIOCL -- without giving confirmation and booking another charter flight at a higher price – does not amount to deficiency of service on the part of ACS Air Charter Service India. Therefore, KIOCL is not entitled to any relief, the Commission said.

Three cops suspended for misconduct

RAMANAGARA SP Karthik Reddy suspended three policemen on charges of misconduct. Manjunath KN, assistant sub-inspector of police attached to Magadi police station, Narayanamurthy, head constable attached to Channapatna Town station, and GS Govindaiah, ASI at District Crime Records Bureau, are the suspended policemen.

It is learnt that the three are relatives and Manjunath and Narayanamurthy had not reported to work for a few months. They went to the SP office on Thursday to report for duty and instead took Govindaiah, who was at work, out and consumed alcohol in a car. They also allegedly got into an altercation with the public and hurled abuses at them. Onlookers recorded a video, which shows two of the officers in plain clothes and one in uniform, and sent it to senior officials. The video also went viral on social media.

AS part of a partnership between the state government and the UK, 13 students, who were selected from various public universities in the state, are set to fly to the UK on June 26.

Higher Education Minister Dr MC Sudhakar met the students Friday. "This interdisciplinary competition with University of Dundee will provide students an opportunity to work in interdisciplinary teams and learn global best practices and imbibe a new culture. We appreciate the British Council's role for the collaboration, a positive step towards strengthening Karnataka-UK relations. This also highlights the consistent efforts of the government to come up with a long-term plan for higher education in the state," said Sudhakar.

The students are from Gulbarga University, University of Visvesvaraya College of Engineering (UVCE) and University of Agricultural Sciences (UAS), Bengaluru. They will be travelling to Dundee as part of a partnership between the University of Dundee and the Karnataka State Higher Education Council (KSHEC) for a collaborative project between the two institutes, which will encourage students to participate in a research-based competition.

Teams were invited from the universities for a four-month training programme, which ended in June, and now, the students will travel to Dundee to present their research.

The students have been divided into three teams. The team from UAS researched on the development of a low-cost solar based automatic irrigation system for remote areas in the state. The UVCE team delved into the potential of recycling cooking oil and plastic oil as an alternative to diesel. The Gulbarga University team studied the antimicrobial resistance patterns in a local tribal population in Kalaburagi.

Depressed over father's death, woman ends life

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bengaluru

A 27-year-old woman died by suicide after jumping from the kitchen balcony of her 10th floor flat in Yelahanka New Town on Thursday between 10 pm and 10.30 pm. The victim is said to have been depressed over her father's death two years back.

The deceased, identified as Amruta Sharma, a native of Lucknow in Uttar Pradesh, was employed in a private firm. She got married two years ago and was living with her husband and in-laws in Shriram Suhaana Apartment on Doddaballapura Road in Nagenahalli near Yelahanka. After reportedly locking her husband in the room, she went to the kitchen balcony and leaped to death. She was rushed to a nearby hospital where she was declared brought dead. The body has been shifted to Dr Ambedkar Hospital for post-mortem.

"The woman was reportedly depressed after her father's death. Her mother, who is in Lucknow, has been informed about her death. We are trying to find out if the victim had left behind any death note," an officer who was part of the investigation said.

Yelahanka New Town police registered a case of unnatural death and are investigating further.

Centre says no rice to Karnataka, Muniyappa looks for a way out

Food minister pins hope on getting 2.28 lakh tonnes from traders and central agencies

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI
@Bengaluru

WITH Union Minister for Consumer Affairs, Food and Public Distribution Piyush Goyal on Friday categorically denying to supply rice to Karnataka through the Food Corporation of India (FCI), Food and Civil Supplies Minister K H Muniyappa found a way out to procure the 2.28 lakh metric tonnes of rice to launch the state government's flagship Anna Bhagya programme.

"India is big and we have many avenues to procure rice. We will resolve the issue in a week's time," he said, indicating the options of procuring rice from other states. But he categorically declined that the state will purchase rice from the open market as it will be expensive and a burden on the state's exchequer.

According to him, central agencies will call for tenders and procure rice from traders and channelise it to the government.

Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa meets Union Minister Piyush Goyal in New Delhi on Friday | EXPRESS

Sources told The New Indian Express that some traders, who had stock of rice in Karnataka, were also eager to supply. If all goes well, the government will likely launch the scheme by August 1.

The agencies the state government had already approached include the National Co-operative Consumers Federation (NCCF), National Agricultural Cooperative Marketing Federation (NAFED) and Kendriya Bhandar.

Muniyappa, who returned to Bengaluru from New Delhi after pursuing the issue for a couple of days, on Thursday after failing to get appointment of Goyal on Friday headed back to the national capital as he got a call.

"After half an hour of discussion, Goyal said it is not possible to supply rice to the state. I asked why this can't it be as the entire country needs 135 lakh metric tonnes for PDS and there was almost double the stock of 262 lakh metric tonnes with FCI. But he maintained that the Centre needs more rice and up to 400 lakh metric tonnes against the commitments to different schemes. It was an evasive answer that I found not proper," Muniyappa told to reporters.

He accused the Centre of playing "vendetta politics" over the issue despite the state being ready to procure rice at the FCI rate. He said he felt let down by the Centre as he had met Goyal with optimism.

On the Centre distributing 5-kg rice free of cost to every member BPL family and Antyodaya Anna Yojna(AAY) card holders, he attributed it to the Food Security Act brought by the Manmohan Singh-led Congress government in 2013.

State govt invites Tesla to set up unit, says K'taka 'the destination' to invest

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

THE Karnataka government on Friday invited Tesla, the world's largest electric car producer, to invest in the state and set up a manufacturing unit for its cars. Large and Medium Industries Minister MB Patil tweeted that if Tesla wants to expand its operations in India, "Karnataka state is the Destination for it".

This development comes just days after Elon Musk, the founder of Tesla, Starlink and now the owner of Twitter, met Prime Minister Narendra Modi in the United States. Musk, after meeting Modi, said he plans to visit India in 2024 and said India holds "more promise than any other large country around the globe."

Patil also said that the Karnataka government will extend its full cooperation and offer various benefits if Tesla decides to establish its headquarters in Karnataka. "We want the people of Karnataka to have bigger opportunities and create more jobs, if Tesla comes to Karnataka this will open new doors for many people," Patil elaborated.

"We will decide on a couple of locations and show them where the plant can be built and follow all Union Government rules. We will also discuss the benefits of investing in the state. Karnataka is focused on being the hub of innovation and manufacturing for the next two decades," he said.

Patil explained that the government is focused on taking the state on the trajectory of industrial growth.

Previously other states like Maharashtra, Punjab, West Bengal, Andhra Pradesh, and Telangana had tweeted asking Tesla to set up units in their respective states.

MY TAKE

Time to learn from a 'footpathless B'luru'

NIRAD MUDUR
Deputy Resident Editor, Karnataka
niradgmudur@newindianexpress.com

A key element of a thriving city is people's mobility. The basic form of mobility is pedestrian movement, needing safe and convenient passage. For that, a city needs quality footpaths — something that is lacking in Bengaluru, which is already on the global map. Namma Bengaluru may be the only city to be receiving global attention for business and start-ups, defence research, scientific and academic institutions, information technology, and yet not offering decent walking space for its own citizens.

It's like the city's decision-makers ironically telling its pedestrians who demand safe footpaths across Bengaluru to "Go, take a walk!" And that's what they have been doing... that too on one of the most unsafe footpaths that exist, or just don't. That they are neglected is an understatement.

One of the key reasons for this may be that footpaths do not exist for use in Bengalureans' psyche. This is evident from the fact that even in areas where quality footpaths are indeed laid for safer walks by pedestrians, people still prefer walking on the roads next to, or in the midst of, speeding vehicles. This habit has entered our genes now. When such is the case and only a handful of experts or activists keep demanding well-laid footpaths, the authorities turn a deaf ear, and the problem of lack of proper footpaths continues. There is no mass public demand for safe, quality footpaths.

Ideally, every road in a city has to be abutted by footpaths on both sides. Most areas do not have footpaths for pedestrians to walk on, or wherever laid, they are either uneven, encroached upon by vendors, by adjacent property owners, or by power transformers which plonk right in the middle like metal mammoths. Probably, this shapes a Bengalurean's attitude towards footpaths: "A footpath comes with obstructions/encroachments, so it's safer walking on the roads."

Deputy Chief Minister and Bengaluru Development Minister DK Shivakumar is on a mission to promote Brand Bengaluru. At a meeting on Brand Bengaluru earlier this week with eminent citizens, Bengaluru's public was asked to participate in a comprehensive development of Bengaluru, starting with sharing their feedback/opinions to improve in seven core categories: urban mobility (Agile Bengaluru); environment and ecology (Green Bengaluru); solid waste management (Clean Bengaluru); public place utilisation (Vibrant Bengaluru Connecting Citizens); public health and animal health (Healthy Bengaluru); people-friendly and e-governance (Tech Bengaluru) and water security (Sated Bengaluru). It is worth noting here that the first core category is urban mobility — and that must begin with basic pedestrian mobility and the space for it; in one word, footpaths.

Civic authorities need to open their eyes to the immense benefits that footpaths offer. This is easier done by realising that almost every case of chain-snatching involving bikers has occurred when the victim was walking on the road, not on the footpath. Safe and barricaded footpaths offer safety from these bike-borne vultures who prey on women (or even men) with ornaments. We need to understand this aspect of a crime-preventing role that well-laid and safe footpaths can play.

Although late in the day, Bengaluru needs quality footpaths — ones which offer senior citizens and the physically challenged a safe passage without worrying about tripping, falling and breaking brittle bones.

In fact, this needs to be replicated in all tier-2 and tier-3 cities across the state. This needs to be done now, without waiting for uncontrolled growth to end up like Bengaluru today. It is always easier to add a few kilometres of quality footpaths as the town/city grows than to face a huge challenge like Bengaluru faces now. Town and city administrators need to learn from Bengaluru's folly of having neglected footpaths and their importance. But for Bengaluru, the challenge remains...

Will end commission menace: CM

US consulate in Bengaluru a boost for tech sector: Priyank

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE United States will soon open two new consulates -- one in Bengaluru and another in Ahmedabad – bringing the total number of US consulates in India to seven. The US already has consulates in New Delhi, Mumbai, Chennai, Kolkata and Hyderabad.

Opening of a US consulate in Bengaluru has been a long pending demand and will come as a relief to students, techies and companies which have interests in the US. "It's a good move and will boost Bengaluru's image in the global arena," said Rural Development and Panchayat Raj Minister Priyank Kharge. "It will help the IT and ITES industries, techies and students in Karnataka, who have to travel to Chennai and Hyderabad for their visa applications," added Kharge.

The demand for the US consulate was mooted much earlier, but on July 2, 2019, the then BJP Karnataka spokesperson AH Anand had written to the then Union Minister for Chemicals and Fertilisers DV Sadananda Gowda requesting him to propose the setting up of the consulate in Bengaluru with the US Embassy and Consulate General office, New Delhi.

"There was a proposal to set up the US Consulate General office in Bengaluru around 12 years ago. However, for reasons unknown it was converted into a virtual office. As per statistics (then), at least 450 visa applicants travel to Chennai from South Karnataka every day. It is said that a similar number of applicants from North Karnataka travel to Hyderabad every day for the same purpose," wrote Anand.

"Bengaluru has played a major role in the IT revolution in India, which contributes a major chunk of IT and ITES services in the country. Though Bengaluru has been in the forefront of economic, technological activities in the country and continues to be the leader, the long standing demand for the US Consulate General office has remained a distant dream," he wrote. The BJP spokesperson urged that the US consulate will not only help serve the visa applicants, it will also help the US delegates who come to Bengaluru for trade meetings and have to depend upon consulate officials from Chennai.

In response to Anand's letter, which Gowda had forwarded to the Ministry of External Affairs, on July 31, 2019 External Affairs Minister S Jaishankar wrote to Gowda stating that the MEA is "aware of the difficulties posed by the long distance between Bengaluru and Chennai to the US visa applicants,". He added that during Prime Minister Narendra Modi's visit to the US in 2016, "India and US committed to open additional consulates in each other's country. It was agreed that India will open a new consulate in Seattle and the US will open a new consulate at a mutually agreed location in India. I am sure that given its strong economic and social link with the US, Bengaluru will also be considered as a possible location for the new US consulate. However, the decision with this regard would rest with the US side," added Jaishankar.

In March this year, the then BJP chief minister, Basavaraj Bommai, during discussion with US Chargé d'Affaires Ambassador A Elizabeth Jones had raised the need for setting up of a US consulate in Bengaluru.

Will consult legal experts on Quota after budget: CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday said that the State Government will take a call on including the Panchamasali Lingayat community under the 2A category after holding consultations with legal and constitutional experts after the upcoming Budget session of the legislature.

"The previous BJP government took a hasty decision on the reservation issue and that caused confusion. Any decision that is taken should be within the constitutional framework. So, a meeting will be convened and the issue will be discussed," the CM told reporters after meeting a delegation of Panchamasali Lingayat community members led by Sri Jaya Mruthyunjaya Swamiji at his home office.

The delegation, including 15 MLAs, also appealed for the community to be included in the State's 2A list and OBC reservation of the Union Government.

The seer said that the inclusion of the community — which is socially and economically backward — in the BC list will help community members join mainstream.

MLA Vinay Kulkarni said that the community opposed the scrapping of reservation under 2B category for the Muslim community.

The delegation included minister Laxmi Hebbalkar, MLAs Vijayanand Kashappanavar, and his wife Veena Kashappanavar, and Abbayya Prasad. They also called on DyCM D K Shivakumar at Kumarakrupa guest house.

Nadda lampoons Nitish, Lalu for Rahul bonhomie

'His grandmother had put them behind bars during Emergency'

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bhubaneswar

BJP national president JP Nadda on Friday termed the meeting of Opposition parties at Patna a desperate attempt to gain power despite stark contradictions within their formulations.

Taking a potshot at Bihar Chief Minister Nitish Kumar, the convener of the meeting and former CM Lalu Prasad Yadav, the principal ally in the Mahagathbandhan government, Nadda said the leaders who once fought tooth and nail with the Congress during Emergency are now welcoming them to their doorsteps in an attempt to gain power.

Addressing a Maha Jan Sampark rally in Bhawanipatna in Kalahandi district, Nadda said strange things are happening in politics today. Recalling his student days at Patna where he was born, Nadda said, "I am really surprised to see that leaders of many Opposition parties are openly embracing one another at Patna but they have conveniently forgotten that the grandmother of Rahul Gandhi had put Lalu behind bars for 22 months while Nitish was in jail for 20 months during Emergency."

"When I saw that Congress leader Rahul Gandhi was given a rousing reception by these two leaders, I wondered how politics changed everything. Where from they started their political journey and where they have landed now," the BJP chief remarked.

BJP national president JP Nadda

Coming down heavily on former Maharashtra CM Uddhav Thackeray for compromising his political ideology, Nadda recalled the famous statement of his father 'Hindu Hriday Samrat' Balasaheb Thackeray who once said he will rather shut the Shiv Sena shop than joining hands with Congress. "Today, Balasaheb must be thinking in heaven that his son has closed the 'shop'," he said.

Unsparing in his attack on the Congress, Nadda said the grand old party is unable to digest Prime Minister Narendra Modi's popularity in the world. "The intolerant Congress leaders call Modi snake, scorpion, illiterate, tea seller and what not! Poor Congress doesn't realise that this won't help them as Modi has with him the love and faith of the country's 140 crore people. No matter what the Congress utters, Modi will continue to serve the people, will continue to shine the world over," he said.

Stalin: Post-poll tie-up can't be right stance

CHENNAI: No decision has been taken on fielding a common prime ministerial candidate at the Opposition parties meeting held in Patna on Friday, but I have emphasised that post-poll alliance cannot be the right approach and a common minimum programme should be agreed upon, Tamil Nadu Chief Minister MK Stalin said on Friday. Stalin said he had put forth seven suggestions, including forming an alliance under the leadership of a party that wields influence in a particular state. "If that's not possible, seat sharing could be considered. Common candidates can also be put up," the chief minister added.

KPCC president K Sudhakaran arrives at the Crime Branch Office in Kalamasery, Kochi, for interrogation in the Monson Mavunkal case | A SANESH

KERALA Congress president K Sudhakaran was arrested on Friday in a cheating case involving fake antique dealer Monson Mavunkal. The crime branch recorded the Congress leader's arrest after questioning him for more than seven hours. The Kannur MP was later released as the High Court had granted him anticipatory bail in the case.

According to crime branch officers, Sudhakaran did not cooperate with the interrogation and gave evasive answers to several questions. He has been directed to appear for interrogation whenever required, the officers said. Speaking to reporters after interrogation, Sudhakaran rubbished the allegations against him. "The investigation team only wanted to know some facts from me. I am fully confident that there is no evidence with the police to prove me guilty in court. This is what I realised from today's interrogation," he said.

The crime branch had earlier arraigned Sudhakaran as the second accused in the cheating case. As per the complaint, Monson duped six businessmen of ₹10 crore between 2017 and 2020. Monson allegedly showed them fake bank accounts, claiming that his funds were stuck in legal tangles, and that once these are cleared, he would pay them high returns. The complainants alleged that Sudhakaran was present at Monson's house when they handed over the money. They claimed that Monson told them that ₹10 lakh was given to the Congress leader as bribe to facilitate the release of his blocked funds.

On Friday, Sudhakaran, accompanied by Congress leaders, reached the crime branch office with all arrangements made to execute the bail in case of arrest.

SOWJANYA CASE

Family wants probe by human rights commission

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Mangaluru

THE family members of Sowjanya, who was raped and murdered at Ujire in Belthangady taluk of Dakshina Kannada district in 2012, have decided to approach the State Government for a reinvestigation of the case by the state human rights commission.

Revealing this to reporters here on Friday, Mahesh Shetty Thimarodi, president of Prajaprabhutva Vedike, Belthangady, alleged that investigating agencies such as CoD and CBI had failed in ensuring justice to Sowjanya's family. The agencies were pressured by "powerful" people to weaken the case.

"Some members of an influential family at Dharmasthala are involved in the case. They destroyed all evidence and some eyewitnesses died. We know that the eyewitnesses were killed. We knew Santhosh Rao is not the main accused. The recent CBI court verdict proved it. There were many lapses on the part of the investigating teams," Thimarodi said. "When Sowjanya's mother went to file a complaint, the Belthangady police did not even bother to register it. The then investigating officer, Yogish Kumar, hushed up the case by destroying evidence. The investigating agencies did not subject some members of the influential family to narco tests nor did they conduct a DNA test," he alleged.

He lashed out at the CBI for taking 11 years to confirm that Santhosh Rao is not the main accused. "They tried to fix Santhosh but that did not happen," he said, and dared the members of the influential family to a truth test at Sri Kshetra, Dharmasthala. Sowjanya's mother Kusumavathi Gowda appealed to seers from the Vokkaliga community to fight the case. Advocate Ambika Nayak was present.

Ops to begin from Shivamogga airport on Aug 11

RAMACHANDRA V GUNARI
@ Shivamogga

FLIGHT operations from Shivamogga airport will begin on August 11. The maiden flight will be between Shivamogga and Bengaluru and vice-versa.

Shivamogga MP BY Raghavendra told TNIE that the authorities of Indigo airlines visited the airport last week to take stock of various facilities, including bus services.

"It was a historic moment for us when Prime Minister Narendra Modi inaugurated the airport by landing here from New Delhi on February 27. It was inaugurated on the birthday of former CM BS Yediyurappa who was behind the airport project," Raghavendra said.

PM Narendra Modi inaugurated the airport in Shivamogga on February 27 | EXPRESS

According to sources, Indigo Airlines has plans to introduce flights to other destinations such as New Delhi and Mumbai soon. Raghavendra said the airport has received RQY, the international code. Asked about the fare between Shivamogga and Bengaluru, the MP said it would be between Rs 2,500 and Rs 3,000 per person. The airport would also help promote tourism in the district. The famed Jog Falls and many religious places are in the district.

He said the airport will play a big role in the development of neighboring districts such as Davanagere, Chitradurga and Chikkamagaluru.

Meanwhile, local industrialists said the commencement of air services from Shivamogga would be a big boost to the industrial sector in the district.

Ticket for Kanimozhi: Woman driver quits after row with colleague

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Coimbatore

M Sharmila, believed to be the first woman in Coimbatore to drive a bus, quit her job on Friday allegedly following arguments with her conductor who asked DMK MP Kanimozhi to buy a ticket.

According to sources, Kanimozhi, who was in the city to attend several event, took a ride on the private bus on route 20A which was driven by Sharmila. The trainee conductor K Annammal asked Kanimozhi to purchase a ticket, which triggered a spat between the crew.

Sharmila told TNIE, "Kanimozhi saw videos about me on social media and said she would ride with me whenever she is in Coimbatore. Recently, her PA informed me that Kanimozhi would meet me on Friday, and I told the manager of the company. But he did not respond."

She added, "When the MP was in the bus, Annammal who joined as conductor last Tuesday, asked her and the PA to buy tickets. I told her not to ask for ticket and said my father, who was riding with us, would buy it for them. But Annammal did not listen . So the PA bought tickets by giving ₹120 for the ride from Gandhipuram to Somanur. It created an embarrassing situation for the MP and me in front of passengers."

"I informed about the issue to the owner of the bus at his office at Gandhipuram, but he did not support me.

Rather, he alleged that I doing this to seek publicity. My father argued with him and he asked us to leave the office. I felt offended that he abused my father, and quit my job." Sharmila added.

Manager of the transport firm P Raghu told TNIE that Sharmila did not inform them about the MP's visit.

"Sharmila did not like it when a female conductor joined work, and feared her popu;arity would wane. The conductor treated the MP just like the other passengers. For this, the driver argued with her while on the trip. The conductor apologised to Kanimozhi, but Sharmila kept arguing with her," he said.

He said after the MP get down at Peelamedu bus stop, Sharmila refused to operate the bus further, even though there were many passengers. Further, he clarified that they did not terminate her services. Sharmila father K Mahesh denied the manager's allegation. He told TNIE that Kanimozhi has assured to help his daughter.

New norms for Tirumala devotees after leopard attack

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tirupati

A DAY after a leopard attacked a 3-year-old boy on the Tirupati-Tirumala trekking path, the Tirumala Tirupati Devasthanams (TTD) has decided to allow pilgrims to trek the path to the hill shrine in groups after 7 pm.

It has also been decided to allow devotees to climb Srivari Mettu footpath to Tirumala up to 6 pm and up to 10 pm on Alipiri footpath. Security options for two-wheeler travellers on the Tirumala ghat roads after 6 pm are being discussed, TTD Executive Officer AV Dharma Reddy said on Friday.

He made a second visit to the 7th mile on the Alipiri footpath, where the boy was attacked by the leopard on Thursday night.

Later, speaking to the media, he said it was decided to send 200 devotees in a group after 7 pm on the footpath with security guards and devotees will be advised to chant Govinda Nama.

He also appealed to devotees to be vigilant and keep the children in the middle of the group.

The forest officials have identified the leopard track between Galigopuram and Lakshmi Narasimha Swamy temple on the Alipiri footpath.

6,850 red-eared slider turtles seized at TN airport from 2 Malay passengers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Tiruchy

CUSTOMS officials seized 6,850 red-eared slider baby turtles from two Malaysian passengers who arrived at Tiruchy International Airport in Tamil Nadu during the wee hours of Friday. Sources said that the passengers were caught during inspection by customs and arrested.

Officials recovered the turtles kept in cartons from the bags of the passengers. Following the seizure, forest officials also visited the airport and confirmed that the seized turtles were of the red-eared slider species.

"These are non-native species and pose a threat to our native species. Therefore, they would be deported," a forest official said.

Sources said that foreign species of turtles like the red-eared slider, Chinese pond turtle and other species have become a favourite among smugglers as people believe they will bring luck and money. These turtle species are smuggled in from illegal hatcheries in Malaysia, China and other Asian countries, the sources added.

Red-eared slider baby turtles caught at Tiruchy Airport on Friday | EXPRESS

In 2019, the Directorate of Revenue Intelligence caught about 4,500 red-eared sliders at the Tiruchy airport.

"Process is on to deport the turtles. For contravention of the provisions of the Customs Act 1962, the Principal Commissioner of Customs, Tiruchy authorised the arrest of the passengers," said the customs department in its press release.

The customs also caught another Malaysian passenger with foreign currency worth ₹13.82 lakh in US Dollars, found concealed inside the bags of the passenger. He was caught by customs before boarding the flight.

3 OF FAMILY END LIFE OVER PROPERTY ROW

MYSURU: Upset over a property dispute, a farmer, his wife and their daughter committed suicide in Chamarajanagar taluk on Friday. The deceased have been identified as Mahadevaswamy (42), Savitha (33) and Sinchana (14). While Mahadevaswamy was a farmer, Savitha worked as a tailor. Sinchana was studying in Class 9. Their elder daughter was studying in college and was living at her grandfather's house. Neighbours said Mahadevaswamy's sisters had approached the court for a share in the property which led to the dispute. While Savitha and Sinchana consumed poison, Mahadevaswamy hanged himself from the ceiling. The incident came to light in the morning when relatives knocked on the door of the house. As there was no response, they broke open the door and found them dead. The victims had left a death note where they have requested the police to punish the sisters. ENS

Khandre calls for healthy ecological balance

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

ENVIRONMENT and Forest Minister Eshwar Khandre on Friday stressed the need for maintaining a healthy ecological balance.

He said while it is important to conserve forests and ensure there is no encroachment, the poor, who have constructed homes there, cannot be demolished. A healthy ecological balance has to be maintained, he added. He was speaking to reporters on the sidelines of the announcement of the government taking up a drive to plant five crore saplings across the state.

Khandre said he is open to ideas from experts and environment activists on forest conservation, to improve forest cover and to reduce man-animal conflicts.

He said stern action will be taken against officials if there were complaints against them. Steps will be taken to prevent unwanted civil works and constructions inside the forests.

On his recent meeting with Union Forest, Environment and Climate Change Minister Bhupender Yadav, Khandre said the state government is preparing strategies to reduce man-animal conflicts and strengthen the buffer zones.

On the survival rate of saplings planted over the years, he said that his department will receive an audit report in this regard within 15 days. The survival rate is 60%. He is open for a third party audit, the minister added.

Referring to the Anna Bhagya scheme, Khandre said it will be successfully implemented. On BJP's protest, he said since they have nothing to do now, they are protesting.

MONETARY TIGHTENING AT HALFWAY MARK, NEED TO STRIKE RIGHT BALANCE

In the ongoing global monetary tightening marathon, we seem to have only reached the halfway point, marking the end of the beginning and not the end itself. How else can one explain the stop-start nature of interest rate hikes? Just when it seemed inflation was easing and policy rates have peaked, an increasing number of central banks are back to rate increases, some even after a steady pause. On Thursday, the Bank of England surprised markets, delivering a more-than-expected 50 bps hike, followed by the Norwegian central bank. The Turkish central bank went one step further with a staggering 6.5% point hike, taking the benchmark one-week repo rate to 15%, nearly smothering its currency. A few days before, the European Central Bank also signaled further increases in July.

Investor confidence across markets turned edgy this week, as the US Federal Reserve Chair Jerome Powell reiterated the need for additional rate hikes in coming months. In Europe, concerns about the economic outlook led to an inversion in the German yield curve, and though China's central bank reduced two benchmark rates to bolster economic growth, the magnitude of rate cuts was so small that it couldn't move the needle, leaving investors disappointed. In all, the hawkish central bank commentary caused a correction in global equities on Friday. Sensex, too, suffered a setback, crashing over 250 points—just a day after it managed to crack past the 63,000-mark.

As RBI's Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) minutes show, Governor Shaktikanta Das, too, conceded that the job of taming inflation was half-done and that the MPC was still in a rate-tightening cycle. The delay in the southwest monsoon is adding to concerns over El Nino posing an upside risk. The IMD maintains expectations of a normal monsoon, but then even a normal monsoon doesn't rule out the possibility of declining crop production as seen in FY22 and FY23. As it is, vegetable prices are rising and risks to food inflation are skewed to the upside. Monsoon and crop production are crucial as they have a bearing on rural consumption, which in turn is critical for growth. As MPC's external member Jayanth R Varma observed, the current policy was approaching levels that could potentially harm the economy considering the real interest rates are already positive. The MPC's next policy actions must be well-balanced.

AAP BUMP ON OPPN'S MARCH TO 2024 POLLS

The mega Opposition unity show at Patna, organised by Bihar chief minister Nitish Kumar, turned out to be the first big step where parties with differing political ideologies—and even those pitted against each other—resolved to work together in the 2024 Lok Sabha election. Mamata Banerjee, who is fighting a bitter panchayat election against the Left parties, the Congress and the BJP, announced that her party will work with all Opposition parties to defeat the latter. Former Congress president Rahul Gandhi admitted there are differences among the parties but said his party will work with flexibility to overcome all hiccups. All other leaders present at the occasion spoke on similar lines and decided to meet again at Shimla after the monsoon session of Parliament.

That the parties agreed to go from Patna, seen as neutral ground, to the Congress turf in Shimla—is a big move forward—as the largest opposition party was being seen as a stumbling block in the path to unity. The Patna conclave, however, received a blow when the Aam Aadmi Party (AAP) contingent led by Arvind Kejriwal skipped the press conference the Opposition leaders addressed. In the deliberations before the press conference, the AAP chief asked for the Congress' commitment to oppose the Centre's ordinance in Parliament. The Congress refused to give any, resulting in AAP boycotting the press meet. The AAP-Congress brinkmanship notwithstanding, the Patna parleys have firmly set the Opposition parties on the road to 2024, which is long and full of challenges. The easier part will be drafting the common minimum programme and setting up a coordination committee.

The main challenge will come when the parties sit down to chalk up a seat-sharing formula for a one-to-one fight against the BJP. The parties have decided to pitch a single Opposition candidate against the BJP in around 300 Lok Sabha seats. It remains to be seen if Mamata will accommodate the Left and the Congress in West Bengal, and whether AAP will ally with the Congress in Delhi, Punjab and Gujarat. The other challenge is to get the remaining Opposition parties to join the alliance. The ruling parties in Odisha, Andhra Pradesh and Telangana kept away from the Patna meet, as did the Bahujan Samaj Party. The Opposition camp hopes that as the unity talks gain momentum, its ranks would swell.

QUICK TAKE

FIX POLL-TIME FAKE NEWS

The Election Commission of India plans a dedicated unit to confront misinformation during elections. The coming months will see five Assembly polls and a general election. The idea has merit and is necessary. But a separate unit without teeth is a non-starter. It must be armed with laws to tackle fake news and information, which a recent Oxford University study classed as 'divisive and conspirational', eating into India's democratic gut. A parliamentary debate on the influence of tech and social media in today's electioneering should precede the EC's empowerment to stamp down on incendiary campaigning without fear or favour.

Under a State Department pilot project, Indian nationals will no longer be required to leave the US for renewal of their visas in eligible categories

MULTI-LAYERED TAKEAWAYS FROM MODI-BIDEN SUMMIT

K P NAYAR
Strategic analyst

SOURAV ROY

Prime Minister Narendra Modi's just-concluded state visit to the United States of America is not what it seems to be in populist impression. Without doubt, it advances some of India's most important foreign policy priorities, but there are wheels within wheels underlying the bilateral summit in Washington.

Modi's visit may help President Joe Biden to get re-elected in November 2024, if he is chosen by the Democratic party as its candidate at the party's nominating convention, usually held in August in any election year. No, not because Indian Americans, by far the richest immigrant ethnic group in the US, will rush to flood Biden's fundraisers with financial contributions for honouring Modi with a state visit. Not even because Indian Americans are a vote bank, which can tilt US election results: they constitute only 1% of American voters and more than two-thirds of them vote for Democrats anyway.

Biden's campaign strategists will very effectively use a letter written by 57 members of the US House of Representatives and 18 Senators urging Biden to take up with Modi, India's human rights record since he became prime minister. The letter reached the White House as the aircraft carrying Modi touched down in New York. Two members of the US Congress who did not sign the letter, both Muslims, boycotted Modi's address to the joint session of Congress: this has never happened before when an Indian prime minister spoke on Capitol Hill. Biden's re-election chances next year depend very much on weaning moderate Republicans, undecided voters and fence-sitters away from Donald Trump in the event that he is Biden's opponent in a rematch of the 2020 presidential election. Extremist right-wing Republicans are solidly behind Trump and the indictments against the 45th president have only hardened the resolve among his following—estimated at 38% in opinion polls—to stand by him against what they see as a political witch-hunt of Trump by Democrats.

All the 75 signatories to the letter are "liberal" lawmakers. They are feared by Republicans—both by moderates and Trump supporters—as "radical leftists" who want to raise taxes on the middle class and the rich to fund what they consider wasteful government expenditure. Republicans accuse these liberals of pushing the US towards socialism, even communism. At the same time, Republicans are bipartisan supporters of greater engagement with India. By ignoring the left-wing attack on Modi, extending to him all the honours that are reserved for a distinguished state guest and significantly raising the levels of America's engagement with India, Biden hopes to convince many Republicans that he is prepared to confront the liberal wing of his own Democratic party. Many moderate Republicans will switch sides and vote for Biden if he can prove to right-of-centre voters by more such actions that the Democratic party is not about to be captured by leftists and socialists, who wanted the White House to lecture Modi on human rights and minority protections. The lawmakers' letter is one more arrow in the armoury of Biden's political strategists to aim at the deeply-divided and unsure Republican party. As a continuous election winner for half a century this year, Biden knows how to use such tools: he would have been happy that every US mainstream newspaper wrote about the letter by 75 legislators. It is to the president's political advantage.

Some of the decisions announced after the Modi-Biden summit are not new, although they are being projected as fresh initiatives. The decision that India will open a Consulate General in Seattle and Atlanta, for example, was taken in October 2008 at a meeting between President George W Bush and Prime Minister Manmohan Singh. The US dragged its feet and later reneged on this promise: in August 2010, the US State Department informed the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) that only one of the two Consulates would be permitted. After considering the State Department's change of heart for six months, the MEA informed its counterpart in Washington that it would opt for Atlanta. But not before insisting on reciprocity and shooting down a US proposal to open a Consulate in Bengaluru and allowing a new diplomatic post only in Hyderabad, as agreed by Bush and Singh. Notwithstanding such contretemps, it is heartening that the dispute has finally been resolved: India will open its post in Seattle and the US in Hyderabad and in Ahmedabad. Upholding the principle of reciprocity, India will open two more Consulates in the US at locations to be announced soon.

Tucked among the plethora of decisions taken on Thursday is an "agreement to place three Indian liaison officers in US commands for the first time—deepening our partnership and critical information sharing." A similar, but less elaborate decision was taken at a US-India summit in Washington in July 2005. But it could not be implemented because of complications at the US Central Command (CENTCOM) in Florida, which has a cosy relationship with Pakistan and has officers from Rawalpindi stationed at its headquarters in Florida. India's military-to-military contacts continued to be consigned to the Pacific Command's (PACOM) Area of Responsibility (AOR), an unnatural choice considering that all of India's extended neighbourhood was being dealt with by the CENTCOM. As a sop to New Delhi, the Trump Administration renamed PACOM, headquartered in Hawaii, as Indo-Pacific Command in 2018. Taking a leaf out of Israel's experience since January 2021 of working with 20 Muslim nations within CENTCOM, Thursday's agreement should work well for more robust US-India defence cooperation.

What will endear America to Indians in the coming months is a State Department pilot project, under which Indian nationals will no longer be required to leave the US for renewal of their visas in eligible categories. The US will "implement this for an expanded pool of H1B and L visa holders in 2024, with the aim of broadening the programme to include other eligible categories." Appropriately, Modi and Biden described the decision as "sharing prosperity and delivering for our peoples". That, after all, is what such summits will be remembered for after the menu of the state banquet at the White House is forgotten and the echoes of "Modi, Modi", chants all over Washington die down. Until Biden's visit to India in September for the G20 summit.

BALKANISATION, DELIMITATION, AND RUMBLING IN THE STATES

KAJAL BASU
Veteran journalist

'Balkanisation' is a much-used, -abused, and -misused word in the mercurial Indian sociopolitical vocabulary. There is not a single social or political scientist who has not raised the issue of statal disintegration over the past decade, either in derision, predestination, or prediction. It's a vast, nearly unimaginably heterogeneous country, held together not so much by social bonds but by an idea of itself that may either be the most ambitious statal experiment in human history or artifice in the service of a romantic ideal.

With matters coming to a social-political-religious head over the past decade, an issue previously walking the halls of academia like a spectre born of cerebration has gained enough traction to have become a bogey of the future.

Balkanisation is a word born of as much wishful desire of those affronted by the scheme of things as of desperation and despair at a possible future of the country, which is today a living paradox: unprecedentedly divisive under an equally unprecedented unitariness.

Balkanisation is defined as "the fragmentation of a larger region or state into smaller regions or states, which may be hostile or uncooperative with one another. It is usually caused by differences of ethnicity, culture, and religion and some other factors such as past grievances."

It is possible to visualise, in alt reality, the subcontinent as balkanised at Independence. Lord Mountbatten, presiding over the transfer of power from Britain in March 1947, reportedly flirted with a plan to hack the country into a dozen or more autonomous provinces.

Mountbatten had apparently cleared this plan with London without making any of the key Indian political leaders—Gandhi, Nehru, or Jinnah—privy to it. But, uncomfortable with the idea of a fait accompli, he tentatively revealed it to Nehru, who promptly withdrew into a nightlong rage. Thickly flummoxed by Nehru's extreme reaction, Mountbatten scrapped his piecemaking plan, and Nehru settled for a far less divisive trifurcation of the territory into two distinct sovereign nations.

Having dodged that bullet three-quarters of a century ago, we might be in danger of facing it again—perhaps not as balkanisation but as its less intractable version: devolution—the process of regions within a state demanding and gaining political strength and growing autonomy at the expense of a central government. While balkanisation ends with the formation of new states, devolution results in increased autonomy for regions.

Federalism is the softer precursor to devolution. Fed by an increasingly roiling mix of self-confidence, autarky and territoriality, federations tend towards centrifugal autonomism: the acquiring of political autonomy from a national dispensation.

ANI

> Balkanisation isn't a topic limited to malcontents inside India. China has actively prayed for the subcontinent's disintegration

In essence, devolutionary tendencies in a federation are as inevitable as night follows day. Despite the oft-bandied argument that India is a union and not a federation of states, the difference is hair-thin. Both unions and federations are held together by a glue of imposed centripetality, which the component states keep testing by pushing the envelope of conformity. And this testing is magnified in times of national stress—such as in India today.

Unlike that other beacon of democracy, the US, India has always been challenged by fissiparous tendencies. India is locked between two jaws of a vise, the Northwest and the Northeast. The desire to draw away from the republic runs deep in both regions. The ruling establishment has pretty much disenfranchised one—and, with stunning incompetence, recently rearmed the desire to secede in the other.

There is more grief headed India's way. If we only examine probabilities with a cold eye will we acknowledge, and perhaps be able to forestall, the multistate upheaval inherent—indeed, already building—in the delimitation exercise due within five years of 2026. Delimitation will electorally disempower India's advanced states while further muscularising its least-developed states. In effect, the states of north-central India, already carrying inordinate parliamentary heft, will gain disproportionately, at the cost of the comparatively developed states of the south and the east.

The number of seats in UP and MP will go up by 79%; in Rajasthan by 100%; Bihar by 98%; Jharkhand by 71%; Chhattisgarh by 73%; and Gujarat by 65%. In contrast, Tamil Nadu will gain by only 26%; Andhra Pradesh and Telangana by 29% each; Karnataka by 46%; Odisha by 33%; Bengal by 43%; and Sikkim, Arunachal Pradesh, Nagaland, Manipur, Mizoram, Tripura, and Meghalaya by 0%. The south has already started apprehensive SWOT analyses about unionification, and criticism is mounting in Bengal, a major constituent of the east.

But balkanisation isn't a topic limited to malcontents inside India. China has actively prayed for the subcontinent's disintegration.

In 2009, an article by a Chinese think tank, the International Institute for Strategic Studies, had dismayed the Indian government. Its prescription: "Only after India has been broken up into 20-30 pieces will there be any real reform or social change in the country." The government had complained to China—but the observation came to stay as a serious contention in Indian academia and politics.

And, then, there exists the argument that India is fast heading towards turning into a shatterbelt region à la Sudan, Balkan, Ukraine, Russia, Turkey, Syria, Iraq, Vietnam, and Korea. In Geopolitics of the World System, Saul Bernard Cohen describes shatterbelts as "strategically oriented regions that are both deeply divided internally and caught up in the competition between Great Powers of the geostrategic realms".

Or is India already a shatterbelt, somehow holding together in the face of centrifugality that waxes and wanes but never entirely disappears?

Would India actually be better off fragmented? Or would it lead to the gutting of the states? Like you, I have only questions and conjectures. And foreboding.

Job creation

The editorial Job creation: A big challenge for the government (June 23) makes the right points. The volatility in the IT sector, laxity in new infrastructure developments, etc., has increased the unemployment rate. Just like the government created Agniveer posts in the defence field, it should think of creating such opportunities in other fields too. The political gimmick of appeasement is the main hindrance. People should be encouraged to work hard instead of depending on freebies.
H S Gopalakrishnacharya, Bengaluru

Grave situation

As unemployment is on the upswing, the government is unable to create more jobs for the youth. Not only tech companies are laying off people, but AI and machine learning have also taken the jobs of many. The government should create new ventures/startups to combat this grave situation.
Abhilasha Gupta, Mohali

Patna meeting

It is astonishing that AAP threatens to skip Oppn meeting in Patna (June 23). Blackmail politics is growing among the opposition parties, with them taking the people for granted. Voters are no longer fools to fall prey to such tactics.
R Raghupati, Hyderabad

Fake degree

The government should conduct a high-level inquiry into the fake certificate issue. It's a shame for Kerala, which boasts about excellence in higher education. Certificates already issued should be scrutinised to verify authenticity. Recipients may have already secured admission in professional colleges and jobs in the government and private sector. Irrespective of the students' political allegiance, the culprits should be punished.
Eappen Elias, Thiruvananthapuram

Priya's appointment

It is heartening that Priya Varghese's candidacy for assistant professor has been approved by the Kerala HC's division bench. It's a great morale booster for her and a massive blow to her opponents, who blamed Kannur varsity for submitting to political pressure as she is a CPM leader's wife.
N A Joseph, Ettumanoor

BJP's ideology

C K Faisal's The BJP has to reclaim its lost ideological horizons (June 23) is misplaced. BJP is not against minorities as alleged. It is only against special treatment instead of equality of all irrespective of religion or caste. It doesn't stand for appeasement to get votes, the practice of the so-called secular parties. It's unclear how minorities are under threat.

US fighter jet engines to be rolled out in 3 yrs

Final pact to be signed soon, the engines will be fitted in Indian Air Force's indigenous fighter jet Tejas Mark 2

MAYANK SINGH @ Chennai

THE much-talked-about India-US jet engine-related transfer of technology deal is expected to get inked soon and it will lead to the production of the engines "within three years". Under the deal 110 KN (kilonewton) engine will be jointly produced in India.

"We are ready to sign the agreement soon and within three years, India will have this engine," said a senior official of the Ministry of Defence.

While the cost of the project is yet to be discussed, the numbers of engines to be co-produced will be around 100, sources said as the Indian Air Force has not yet indicated the exact numbers.

The deal is viewed as significant as India lacks in engine-related technology and with time, it will be sought even more as the Air Force is already down to around 30 combat squadrons as against a sanctioned strength of 42. While the GE-F414 engines are to be fitted in the Light Combat Aircraft Mk2, the work on twin-engine deck-based fighters and advanced medium combat aircraft (AMCA) is also proceeding.

The senior MoD official said the significance of the GE-HAL deal for 414 engine lies in the fact the India would get access to cutting-edge technologies.

"India did achieve some successes in getting important technologies from Russia, the UK, and France. "But GE 414 deal is at a different level and scale. It is unprecedented in the history of India's quest for high-tech."

Technologies related to nuclear power, jet engines, submarine production, aircraft carrier and ballistic missiles are among the critical defence technologies in general. "We acquired some of these by the hard work of our scientists and initiatives at the political level," sources said.

This deal, said the sources, shows the amount of trust India has drawn across the higher echelons in the US, reflected in the way it received bipartisan support.

"With this deal we will have 80% transfer of technology in making GE 414 engine, which will enhance operational performance of LCA MKII. As much as 80% of the engine will be made in India, except small components. India will be among the top five countries to have this technology," defence experts say.

The benefits of this joint manufacturing within India will include less turnaround time for maintenance, repair and overhaul.

Under the deal, some of the critical technologies to which India will get access are special coatings for corrosion, machining and coating for single crystal for turbine blades, machining & coating of nozzle guide vanes, Blisk machining, machining of powder metallurgy discs, machining of thin-walled titanium casing, laser drilling technology for combustor and much more.

As per a source, the deal also showed India's intellectual capabilities indicating how much the US trusts our IPR regime and that such tech would not fall in wrong hands. The US showed confidence in our military systems also.

President Biden and Prime Minister Modi hailed the landmark signing of the MoU between General Electric and Hindustan Aeronautics Limited for the manufacture of GE F-414 jet engines in India, for the Hindustan Aeronautics Limited Light Combat Aircraft Mk 2.

In addition, the leaders, in a joint statement, welcomed the setting up and launch of the US-India Defense Acceleration Ecosystem (INDUS-X). As a network of universities, startups, industry and think tanks, INDUS-X will facilitate joint defense technology innovation, and co-production of advanced defense technology between the respective industries of the two countries.

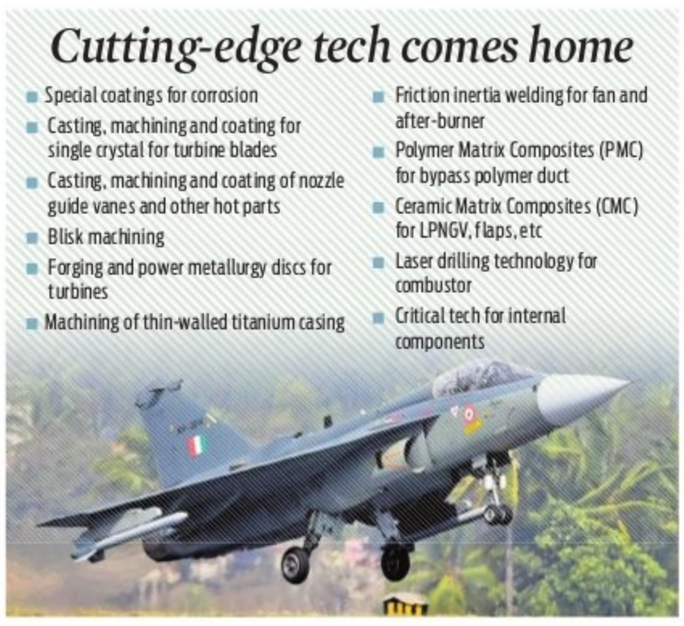
President Biden and PM Modi welcomed India's plans to procure General Atomics MQ-9B HALE UAVs. The MQ-9Bs, which will be assembled in India, will enhance the ISR capabilities of India's armed forces across domains. As part of this plan, General Atomics will also establish a comprehensive global MRO facility in India in support of India's long-term goals to boost indigenous defence capabilities.

Earlier, India had achieved some successes in getting important technologies from Russia, UK and France. But GE F414 deal is at a different level and scale. Such a thing never occurred before in the history of India's quest for high tech

Defence ministry official

Cutting-edge tech comes home

- Special coatings for corrosion
- Casting, machining and coating for single crystal for turbine blades
- Casting, machining and coating of nozzle guide vanes and other hot parts
- Blisk machining
- Forging and power metallurgy discs for turbines
- Machining of thin-walled titanium casing
- Friction inertia welding for fan and after-burner
- Polymer Matrix Composites (PMC) for bypass polymer duct
- Ceramic Matrix Composites (CMC) for LPNGV, flaps, etc
- Laser drilling technology for combustor
- Critical tech for internal components



Oppn meet a photo session, BJP will win over 300 seats: Shah

FAYAZ WANI & BIJOY PRADHAN
@ Srinagar/Bhubaneswar

TERMING the Opposition meet in Patna as a "photo session", Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday said that the unity is not possible and even if it materialises the BJP will still win more than 300 seats in the next general election and Narendra Modi will become the Prime Minister for the third time.

Addressing a public rally in Jammu, he said, "Unlike ₹12 lakh crore scam of the UPA government, there have been no allegations of corruption in the Modi government in the last nine years."

Asserting that revocation of Article 370 has brought development and progress in J&K, Shah said, "In 47 months since the abrogation of Article 370, there have been only 32 calls for shutdown, bandhs and stone-pelting have dropped by 90%."

Attacking Rahul Gandhi, Shah said, "Rahul baba has the habit of criticising, be it abrogation of Article 370, construction of Ram temple or ban on triple talaq."

Meanwhile, BJP national president JP Nadda, addressing a rally at Kalahandi district in Odisha, termed the meeting of Opposition parties in Patna as a desperate attempt to gain power despite stark contradictions within their formulations.

Taking a potshot at Bihar CM Nitish Kumar and former CM Lalu Prasad Yadav, Nadda said that the leaders who once fought the Emergency tooth and nail are now welcoming them to their doorsteps in an attempt to gain power.

Govt rejects TN, K'taka demand for rice at cheap rate

JITENDRA CHOUBEY @ New Delhi

THE Union government has refused to give in to the demand of southern states to participate in the open market sales scheme (OMSS) of rice and wheat. The Central government has said its primary objective is to control food grain inflation to give relief to the 60 crore population dependent on the market for grains.

The Centre's decision has put states such as Tamil Nadu and Karnataka on the receiving end. These states needed extra grains to meet the demand of their various schemes and were willing to participate in the open market sales scheme.

The Tamil Nadu government requires extra 20,000 metric tonnes of rice from the Food Corporation of India to support its universal food security programme. Recently, after returning to power, the Congress-led Karnataka government planned to provide free 10 kg rice to the eligible 'below poverty line' families under its ambitious 'Anna Bhagya Programme. For this, Karnataka government required 2.28 lakh metric tonnes (LMT) of rice.

Under the National Food Security, the Union government provides cheaper grains to 80 crore people. "The government's effort is to provide food grains to the rest of the 60 crore population of the country at a reasonable rate," said Ashik K Meena, chief managing director, Food Corporation of India.

The Central government is concerned about the inflationary trend of grains. After not achieving the procurement target, the government has taken a series of steps to control grain inflation.

Recently, the Centre has put the stock limit on wheat and planned to offload 15 LMT of wheat and 5 LMT of rice to the open market in a bid to bring down the prices. There are 87 LMT of wheat and 292 LMT of rice in stock, which is over and above the buffer requirement.

"In addition to offloading grains through open market sales scheme, we are also considering reducing import duty on wheat," said Meena. The current import duty on wheat is 40 per cent.

The Central government will start offloading 5 LMT of rice into the market from July 5 under the open market sales scheme. The base price of rice will be ₹3,100 per quintal.

The e-auction of wheat will start on July 1.

The government has set a limit of 10 MT to accommodate the small and marginal traders and processors. The bidding is also limited to local buyers by ensuring that only state GST-registered buyers can go for it in their respective states.

Last week, Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah said that around 1.50 lakh metric tonnes of rice is available in Chhattisgarh for the 'Anna Bhagya' scheme, but the transportation cost of the rice to Karnataka is high.

The Karnataka Chief Minister's remark comes amid the state's continuous attempts to procure rice, after the Central government allegedly stalled the supply of wheat and rice to the state.

CONTROVERSY INTENSIFIES

Govt doesn't allow Karnataka and TN to participate in open market sales scheme to buy wheat and rice

Efforts to bring down market price of grains for 60 crore population depend on the market for food grains

Govt plans to bring down local inflation of food grains. So it limits quantity to 10 MT-100MT to only local buyers

E-auction of 4 LMT of wheat will start from July with a base price of ₹2,125-2,150/ quintal

The e-auction of 5 LMT rice would begin on July 5 with a base price ₹3100/quintal

States told to crack down on illegal fixing of high security number plates

PARVEZ SULTAN @ New Delhi

TAKING cognisance that an increasing number of vendors have taken to manufacturing and unauthorisedly affixing High Security Registration Plates (HSRP) to vehicles across the country, the Union Ministry of Road Transport and Highways has asked the transport departments of states and UTs to initiate action. The authorities were told to either blacklist the errant vendors or terminate agreements.

"It has been brought to the notice of this ministry that some HSRP vendors have been involved in the manufacturing and affixing of unauthorised HSRPs to vehicles across various states. These manufacturers are neither authorised by the states or Union Territories; nor are they approved by the respective Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEM) to affix HSRPs to their brand of vehicles, thereby rendering the HSRP affixed as unauthorised," read a note from the ministry. The HSRP scheme was introduced in 2005. The primary purpose for making such registration number plates with security features was to curb vehicle thefts.

"States are advised to take strong punitive action, including blacklisting or termination, against such agencies that are openly supplying unauthorised HSRPs in the market to unsuspecting and gullible vehicle owners. All stakeholders are requested to implement the provision of the HSRP in letter and spirit and to make the process of availability of authorised HSRPs (with proper 'Vahan' entries to all owners of new and old vehicles)," the note said.

HSRPs are integrated with the 'Vahan' portal and this type of unauthorised affixation of the plates nullifies the purpose of the scheme, said a ministry official.

The ministry has also asked agencies — including the Automotive Research Association of India and the Central Institute of Road Transport in Pune, the Central Road Research Institute and the Society of Indian Automobile Manufacturers in New Delhi, the Vehicles Research Development Establishment in Ahmednagar, Global Automotive Research Centre in Chennai, and the International Centre for Automotive Technology in Manesar — to monitor the manufacturing of unauthorised HSRPs and terminate the licenses whenever an illegality is brought to notice. "It is reiterated that any violation in the HSRP scheme for new vehicles will make the vehicle manufacturers liable to punitive action."

Safety checks: Titan sub tragedy may delay deep sea exploration

BALA CHAUHAN @ Bengaluru

THE US Coast Guard on Thursday confirmed that the Titanic-bound submersible had suffered a "catastrophic implosion", and all five people aboard the 'Titan' sub were killed. "The implosion may have happened in less than a second, killing the crew almost instantly," said Director, National Institute of Ocean Technology (NIOT), GA Ramadass.

Calling it an "extremely unfortunate event", he said that "implosion of manned submarines is a very rare phenomenon. I don't remember any incident of implosion of a crewed submarine earlier". The noted ocean technologist said the Titan had lost connection with the mothership because of the implosion.

Within all the deep sea investigation platforms, manned submersibles represent the toughest technology challenge. "We strictly adhere to certified design, materials, testing and certification processes before launching deep sea exploration vehicles into the sea. Materials used for construction of crewed submersibles require excellent resistance to corrosion. Ideally, titanium alloy and special grade steel are used. Syntactic foam buoyancy material is a critical item in the performance of these crafts. The structure should be able to withstand the water pressure inside the sea, which is around 300 bar at 3000 metres depth (300 times the atmospheric pressure). Design and material have to be certified by the competent authority. Implosion can be avoided if all the parameters are strictly followed," he added.

Speaking about certification of unmanned and manned deep sea explorer vehicles, the ocean scientist said the process is costly, extremely stringent and long, especially for crewed crafts, but ensures safety. "They make you go through repeated cycles of depth testing. Nobody dives beyond certified depths. Whether Titan was tested and certified for deep sea depths is not fully known. That they succeeded in their earlier ventures doesn't mean that the submersible was safe," he added.

Agencies like ABS, DNV, which are members of the International Association of Classification Societies (IACS) are the competent authorities for quality checks and certification of ships/submersibles.

Shadow on ocean research

The Titan submersible tragedy may cast a shadow on deep sea research and exploration by manned submarines, as questions on the safety of the vehicle and crew are being raised. Informed sources said that research submersibles go through stringent processes of design, material, repeated testing of depths at which they can go through, and an extremely painstaking certification process.

"After the Titan tragedy, the layers of checks and balances will be further enhanced to ensure safety of the crew. There will be many more questions raised, and which should be raised. Accidents can happen anywhere but it doesn't mean we stop exploring. We must learn lessons and respect rules. Can we allow uncertified subs to go into waters beyond their tested capacity?" asked sources.

India is set to launch its first manned ocean mission -- Samudrayaan -- in the first quarter of 2024, with the shallow water trial to understand ocean ecology and mining of rare minerals at a later stage. Samudrayaan is a project of MoES under its Deep Ocean Mission Project.

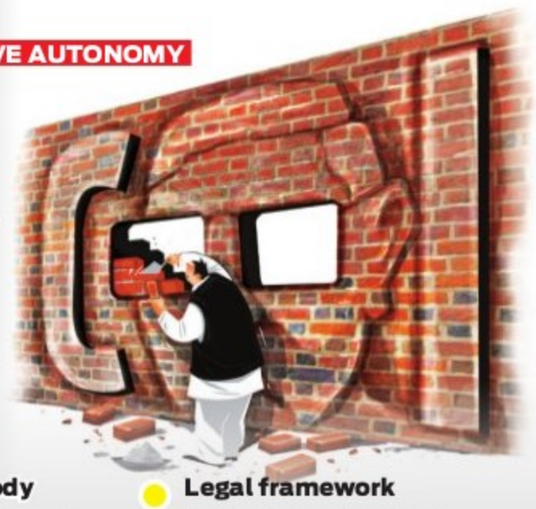
10 STATES DENY CONSENT TO CBI: CLASH LOOMS

On June 10, 2023, Tamil Nadu joined nine other states—Chhattisgarh, Jharkhand, Kerala, Meghalaya, Mizoram, Punjab, Rajasthan, Telangana, and West Bengal—by withdrawing the general consent for investigations that the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI) enjoyed throughout India.



SOURAV ROY

Limited Authority

As the Central government's primary investigating agency, the CBI usually requires consent from state governments for investigations. In federal system, states have jurisdiction over law and order. The CBI's authority is limited by the Delhi Special Police Establishment Act (DPSEA), 1946, which governs its functioning

A non-statutory body

Unlike other Central government agencies, such as the National Investigation Agency (NIA), which can investigate across India without permission of the concerned states, the CBI is not a statutory body and derives its powers DPSE Act, 1946. Initially, established as a special wing of the Delhi Police, the CBI's jurisdiction was limited to Delhi. The Act to set up CBI was not passed by the Parliament. Despite the inherent legal limitations, successive governments used the agency as a weapon to keep the opposition in check.

Legal framework

Section 6 of the DPSEA Act empowers the Central government to direct the CBI to investigate cases within the jurisdiction of any state based on the recommendation of the concerned state government. This means consent from the state is necessary. However, the Supreme Court and high courts can order CBI investigations nationwide without any state consent.

History

The CBI's origins trace back to WWII when it investigated corruption in the War and Supply Department. It was established in 1963 via a Ministry of Home Affairs resolution and is now under the Department of Personnel and Training (DoPT) of the Ministry of Personnel, Public Grievances, and Pensions. It was created by an executive order and is exempt from the RTI Act.

Options

In response to the withdrawal of consent, the CBI can challenge the decision in court, presenting the progress of its investigation into the case. However, if the CBI lacks general consent, it may need to approach a local court for a search warrant to conduct investigations. The Criminal Procedure Code (CrPC) allows search and investigation in a state by an outside agency through a local court.

Impact of consent withdrawal

The withdrawal of general consent hampers the CBI's work, impacting cooperation and functioning. The impact varies based on circumstances, cases, and a state government's cooperation. The CBI investigates old cases until the state government's withdrawal and proceeds with court-assigned cases.

TYPES OF INVESTIGATION

The CBI investigates three types of cases through its specialized wings. The Anti-Corruption Division probes corruption cases involving public servants, while the Economic Offences Division focuses on financial malfeasance, bank frauds, money laundering, and black money operations. The Special Crimes Division investigates cases of violence, including murder, espionage, narcotics banned substances and cheating.

TYPES OF CONSENT Consent can be general or specific. General consent allows the agency to investigate without seeking fresh permission. When withdrawn, the CBI needs case-wise consent. Without specific consent, the agency loses investigative power. Withdrawal hampers seamless investigations.

Violence continues ahead of rural polls

Toll in unabated poll-related bloodbath rises to 9 in Bengal as TMC leader killed in Purulia

PRONAB MONDAL @ Kolkata

A Trinamool Congress leader was shot dead in Purulia late on Thursday night, taking the death toll to nine in the local body polls-related violence. TMC's town president in Adra, Dhananjay Choubey, who was in his late 40s, was sitting outside his party office when three men riding a motorcycle came and opened fire.

Five bullets were pumped into his body. He was taken to a local hospital where he was declared dead on arrival.

"We identified the assassins and two of them were arrested," said a police officer. Local Congress leader Nepal Mahato said there should be an impartial investigation. "The murder is condemnable. If necessary, the CBI may be engaged to find out the actual killers," he said.

The police have arrested two Congress workers in connection with the deadly attack in Purulia. Ever since the single-phase elections to the local bodies was announced on June 9, violence has continued unabated in the state. Unabated violence ahead of the rural polls has triggered a face-off between governor C V Ananda Bose and the ruling TMC.

Bose had visited the strife-hit Bhangar area in South 24 Parganas where three persons were killed during violence on the last day for submitting nominations on June 15. Reacting to violence in the state, Bose said: "Victory depends on count of votes, not dead bodies."

Hitting back, the TMC accused the governor of intervening in the rural polls.

"The governor is overstepping his constitutional rights," TMC's spokesperson Kunal Ghosh said. On Friday, a senior official of the State Election Commission (SEC) said the Union Home ministry sanctioned 315 companies of Central Armed Paramilitary Force (CAPF) to be deployed for the upcoming rural polls.

The state poll panel requisitioned another 485 companies of CAPF for the rural polls. The state poll panel, after being slammed by the Calcutta High Court, sought 800 additional companies of CAPF. Earlier, the SEC had asked for only 22 companies of CAPF following a high court order directing to deploy central force in all 22 districts.

The SEC had moved the Supreme Court challenging the high court's order which was not entertained.

BJP's state president Sukanta Majumdar said the BJP supporters, who were on the run fearing attack by the TMC's goons, started returning to their homes as the central force personnel started arriving in the state. "It is not possible to send 800 companies of CAPF in one go," he said.

On Thursday, a war of words broke out between the governor and CM Mamata Banerjee after the constitutional head of Bengal returned the joining report of state election commissioner Rajiv Sinha, casting a shadow on continuation of the state poll panel head.

Mamata, before leaving for Patna to attend an Opposition meet, said the state poll panel head cannot be removed on whims and fancies.

Fresh firing in Manipur amid appeals for peace

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Guwahati

A gun battle between security forces and armed men was reported from restive Manipur on Friday afternoon. The incident occurred in a foothill area between Imphal East and Kangpokpi districts. It was not immediately known if there were any casualties.

The Army authorities said the attackers sneaked into an area towards the hillside from Yaingangpokpi and fired from automatic weapons targeting Urangpat and Gwaltabi villages.

"Security forces columns, deployed in these vacant villages, responded in a calibrated manner to avoid any collateral damage," the Army's Spear Corps said.

It added that a large group of women, which was a part of a mob, prevented the movement of additional columns to the area. The incident comes a day after two soldiers were injured when unknown gunmen fired at them at North Boljang in Imphal West district on Thursday. Meanwhile, a group of prominent citizens of Assam appealed to Meiteis and Kukis – the two communities caught in the conflict in Manipur – to immediately shun violence and maintain peace.

Another attack

The incident comes a day after two soldiers were injured when unknown gunmen fired at them at North Boljang in Imphal West district on Thursday

"We are greatly disturbed that our neighbouring state Manipur is in turmoil...There is an atmosphere of overwhelming fear, despair and uncertainty. The state has been reduced to a level of statelessness. People are suffering from a deep sense of insecurity," the Axom Nagarik Samaj representing prominent personalities said in a statement. The Samaj said violence cannot help resolve the problem at hand but will make it worse and bring more misery and hardships to the people of both communities. It appealed to Manipur and central governments to try and create an atmosphere conducive for building peace. "We are also bewildered that the honourable PM of India hasn't uttered a word yet about the situation in Manipur or appealed for peace," the Samaj added.

Eyeing RS seat, former DyCM Patil learns Hindi

Former Deputy Chief Minister Nitin Patel celebrated his 68th birthday with other BJP officials, including state BJP President CR Patil. Addressing the leaders, Patil said, "I have come to know that Nitin Patel is currently learning Hindi..." His statement sparked speculation in state political circles that Nitin Patel could run for one of the state's vacant Rajya Sabha seats. Three Rajya Sabha seats will be vacant in August this year. Union Minister S Jaishankar is certain to repeat, while the remaining two seats held by retiring Jugalji Thakor and Dinesh Anavadia, are unlikely to be repeated by the party.

Major reshuffle of 50 IPS officers soon

Speculation of a big rejig involving transfers of more than 50 IPS officers, including majority of the district SPs, is rife among the top police officers in the state. As per sources, major restructuring will take place by the end of June. For the first time in the city's history, a Rath Yatra was held in the presence of an in-charge police commissioner. As the Rath Yatra concluded smoothly, speculation has begun that the city may soon have a new commissioner. According to sources, Home Minister Amit Shah has also discussed the large-scale transfer of IPS in Gujarat with state Home Minister Harsh Sanghvi.

HC to hear Delhi LG's assault case on June 30

The Gujarat HC announced that it would consider Delhi LG V K Saxena's request to keep the trial against him in a metropolitan court in connection with an alleged assault on social activist Medha Patkar in 2002 on June 30. The HC granted a temporary halt to future proceedings last month. On Thursday, Patkar's attorney asked Justice Samir Dave to postpone the hearing on Saxena's application. The court agreed, setting the hearing date for June 30 and extending the trial stay. The LG has approached the HC after the metropolitan court, which is hearing the case against Saxena and three others, denied his appeal to stay the criminal proceedings against him at least till he leaves office as LG.

2nd cholera outbreak in Guj's Kalol

DILIP SINGH @ Ahmedabad

Parts of Kalol in Gujarat's Gandhinagar district have been declared cholera-affected after four cases were detected in the past few days. This is the second such outbreak in town since 2021. Although 11 more suspicious cases in the area have been discovered, the affected individuals are being treated and are stable, said officials.

Gandhinagar Collector Hitesh Koya told this newspaper that a notification has been issued on Thursday declaring the area in a 2-kilometre radius as cholera affected for a duration of one month. "A total of 35 teams are working to trace suspected cases. We have also instructed all public and private hospitals in Kalol to keep a close eye on patients and alert the authorities if they come across any suspected cases," said Koya.

Cholera is an acute diarrhoeal infection caused by ingestion of food or water contaminated with the bacterium Vibrio cholerae. It can cause severe diarrhoea, dehydration and prove fatal if untreated. In Kalol, the disease is suspected to have started due to contaminated water, said the official.

4 militants killed, arms recovered as Army foils infiltration bid near LoC

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

FOUR heavily armed militants were killed and nine AK rifles were seized from them as troops foiled an infiltration bid in Machil sector of border district of Kupwara in J&K on Friday. It was the second major infiltration bid foiled by troops within a week. An army official said during the intervening night of June 22 and 23, suspicious movement was detected in Kala Jungle along the Line of Control in Machil sector of Kupwara. An ambush plan was laid out by the Army and at 4.30 am troops engaged a group of militants crossing the LoC.

The militants fired from the automatic AK-47 rifles and the Army men effectively retaliated and in the ensuing firefight, the four militants were killed whereas no casualties or injuries were reported from the Army side. The official said during the search of the area, a huge cache of arms and ammunition including nine AK rifles, three pistols, four grenades, 288 AK and pistol rounds, 55 suspected narco packets and other huge quantities of war like stores were recovered. "This recovery indicates the vicious plan of Pakistan by utilising the terrorists to derail the existing peace in the Valley. The successful operation is a big blow to the narco-funding and terror plans of the terrorists," he said.

Earlier, last Friday, Army had foiled an infiltration bid of militants in the Keran sector by killing five heavily armed foreign militants and recovering 5 AK rifles, 15 magazines, ammunition, grenades, night vision devices and binoculars from their possession. ADGP Kashmir Vijay Kumar said that the group affiliated to JK Ghaznavi Force, with Rafiq Nai and Shamsher Nai alias Zafar Iqbal (residents of Poonch but now settled in PoK) as handlers.

Delayed monsoon: Maha farmers sow only 1% of total cultivable area

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

AN erratic monsoon has badly hampered sowing in Maharashtra. Government sources said as of now, only 1.09% of the total cultivable area has been sown in the state.

The state government has advised farmers that they should not start sowing unless there is satisfactory rainfall. It said that sowing has been delayed due to the "staggering monsoon." According to the state agriculture department data, in kharif season, 142 lakh hectares, excluding sugarcane land, has to be sown, but out of it, only 1.66 lakh hectare was sown till June 16, which is a mere 1.09% of the total cultivable area. Last year around the same time, 13, total 1.44 lakh hectare was reported to be sown in the state.

The data stated that this year there is 13.3% rainfall (average 110.7 mm rainfall) between June 1 and 16 against 36.9% rainfall last year in the same period. Out of 335 tehsils, 297 received 0 to 25% rainfall while 50 tehsils received 25-to-50% rainfall and 8 tehsils got 50% to 75% rainfall.

"In some parts of the state's irrigated land, cotton, rice, and corn sowing has started, but farmers have yet to start the sowing on non-irrigated land. Farmers are engaged in pre-monsoon work," stated a government report.

In the Konkan region, paddy plantations take place early, but this year, the erratic monsoon has delayed that plantation. In Palghar district, the average paddy cultivation land is 7664.42 hectares, out of it, only 473.13 hectares land that is 6.17 % have been cultivated with paddy crops so far against 1,400 hectares last year in the same period.

A senior government official said officials are compiling data that will be presented to the cabinet meeting. "We are in the last days of the third week of June and there has been no rain. The next week's data will give more clarity on how much land has been cultivated in comparison with the previous year. The situation is grim," said the official.

Chief Minister Eknath Shinde did not call the cabinet meeting on Tuesday. Sources said a communication gap between him and his deputy Devendra Fadnavis is widening and that has been hampering the administration's decisions. "Key meetings due this week are a casualty of it," said the source.

UP adds biographies of Savarkar and Shivaji among 50 others for Class 9-12

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE UP Board of Secondary Education (UPSEB) has added biographies of 50 leaders including Hindutva ideologue V D Savarkar, Maratha king Chhatrapati Shivaji and tribal leader Birsa Munda, in the academic curriculum. According to a senior official of education department, the additions in the curriculum have been made following the instructions of CM Yogi Adityanath.

The state education department had been engaged in a prolonged process to make the additions in the curriculum since CM Yogi had issued directives in this direction.

Class 9 will have biographies of Chandra Shekhar Azad, Birsa Munda, Begum Hazrat Mahal, Veer Kunwar Singh, Ishwar Chandra Vidyasagar, Gautam Buddha, Jyotiba Phule, Chhatrapati Shivaji, Vinayak Damodar Savarkar, Vinoba Bhave, Srinivasa Ramanujan, and Jagadish Chandra Bose.

Similarly, biographies of Mangal Pandey, Roshan Singh, Sukhdev, Lokmanya Tilak, Gopal Krishna Gokhale, Mahatma Gandhi, Khudiram Bose and Swami Vivekananda will be taught in class 10. While class 11 students will learn about revolutionaries like Ram Prasad Bismil, Bhagat Singh, social reformer and politician who headed the committee which drafted the Constitution of India, Dr Bhimrao Ambedkar, iron man of India, Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, Jansangh ideologue Pandit Deendayal Upadhyay, Mahavir Jain, Bharat Ratna Pandit Madan Mohan Malviya, Arvind Ghosh, Raja Rammohan Roy, Sarojini Naidu, Nana Saheb Deshmukh, Shalya Physician Sushrut, Maharishi Patanjali and the prominent nuclear scientist Dr Homi Jehangir Bhabha.

Class 12 students will read about spiritual figure Ramakrishna Paramhansa, freedom fighters Ganesh Shankar Vidyarthi, Rajguru, Nobel Prize winning poet and legendary litterateur Rabindranath Tagore, Lal Bahadur Shastri, Rani Laxmibai, Maharana Pratap, Bankim Chandra Chatterjee, Adi Shankaracharya, Guru Nanak Dev, Dr APJ Abdul Kalam, Ramanujacharya, Panini, Aryabhatta and CV Raman.

More than one crore students studying in classes 9 to 12 in over 27,000 schools will read about these leaders from the 2023-24 academic session. These biographies are compulsory for all students and mandatory for all to clear them. However, the marks for these subjects will not be included in the mark sheets of Class 10 and 12.

TRIBAL REVOLUTION

'Football Kranti' gets a boost: PM to meet players

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Bhopal

TWO four-year-old tribal kids Anidoya Singh and Yash Baiga dream of making it big in football one day. Just four days from now, the two kids will make memories of a lifetime ¬- but not on football field. Instead it will be in a mango orchard with none other than Prime Minister Narendra Modi. On June 27, around 100 promising tribal football players from three districts, Shahdol, Anuppur and Umaria, will be meeting PM Modi at a mango orchard in Pakariya village of eastern Madhya Pradesh's Shahdol district.

These budding football players and their coaches are part of a revolution called 'Football Kranti' active in 1,000 villages of the three tribal dominated districts since last two years. This revolution has been inspired by the grass-root football success story of West Bengal. Importantly, this newspaper had exclusively reported on June 4 about the unique public-private partnership driven three-tier football system having been put in place in 1,000 villages of the three eastern MP districts, which has so far churned out 800 kids and teenage players.

The PM, who will be in Shahdol district on June 27, as part of Shivraj Singh Chouhan government's continuing tribal outreach efforts, will first address a program near Lalpur village, to mark the culmination of the five Veerangana Rani Durgavati Gaurav Yatras, started from different parts of MP on Thursday. The event is also likely to be marked by the launch of the Sickle Cell Anaemia Mission.

"After the main event, the PM will travel to Pakariya village (around five kms from the venue of the main event). In Pakariya, he'll interact with four groups of tribals, each one comprising around 100 members. The four groups, will include a group of village heads, women self-help groups members, representatives of PESA committees and the budding football players from 'Football Kranti' model," Shahdol divisional commissioner Rajeev Sharma told this newspaper on Friday. Brains behind the 'Football Kranti', Sharma said "The PM is likely to interact with the four tribal groups, including the young footballers for around two hours. The Football Kranti group will include players aged between 4 and 40 years, majority of whom will be teenagers."

The three-tier Football Kranti model, supported by multiple government departments, besides the participation of All India Football Federation (AIFF), Sports Authority of India (SAI) and Nita Ambani's Reliance Foundation, has seen the start of football clubs in 1000 villages. The second tier supported by the AIFF and Reliance Foundation will see trained coaches shape best talents in football at schools in the three districts, while the third tier, includes the best products of the two tiers to be trained at a Mini Soccer Training Academy to be run by SAI in Bicharpur village.

NO: E-RD 25 GRC 2023 Dated: 29-03-2023

NOTIFICATION

Whereas, upon considering the reports of the Director General Police, CID, Special Unit & Economic Offences, Benglauru and after due investigation of the complaints of depositors it has come to the notice of the Government, that the M/s Green Buds Agro Farm Company Pvt. ltd. is involved in fraudulent transactions by clandestinely and illegally collecting deposits or money from the general public and thereafter have failed to return the same either after maturity or on demand made by the depositors or complainants with promised interest and other assured benefits and thereby have failed to render the services promised to them.

And whereas, it has further come to the notice of the Government that M/s Green Buds Agro Farm Company Pvt. ltd. and people associating with them have been acquiring lands, movable and immovable properties, cash and others from and out of the deposits or money so collected, from the depositors or complainants and thereby deviating from the intended purposes of accepting the deposits or money.

And whereas, the Government has reason to believe that the actions of M/s Green Buds Agro Farm Company Pvt. ltd. and people associating with them are acting in and detrimental to the interest of the depositors or complainants whose intention was to defraud the innocent depositors, and it has become necessary to protect the interest of the depositors of the M/s Green Buds Agro Farm Company Pvt. ltd.

And whereas, now the Government after considering the report of the Competent Authority, M/s Green Buds Agro Farm Company Pvt. ltd. and satisfying itself about the urgent need to protect the interest of the depositors and in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Karnataka Protection of interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments Act, 2004 (Karnataka Act 30 of 2005) hereby makes the following order, namely:

"ORDER"

Now therefore, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-section (2) of Section 3 of the Karnataka Protection of interest of Depositors in Financial Establishments Act, 2004 (Karnataka Act 30 of 2005), the Government under the circumstances stated above having satisfied that in order to protect the interest of depositors it is necessary to attach the movable property believed to belong to M/s Green Buds Agro Farm Company Pvt. ltd. 350 Pakistanis were on boat that sank off Greece

281 affected families in touch with govt, minister tells Parliament

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN on Friday confirmed that about 350 Pakistanis were aboard an overcrowded fishing boat which sank off Greece's coast last week, killing scores of passengers in one of the deadliest incidents in the central Mediterranean Sea.

Interior Minister Rana Sanaullah told Parliament that the boat which sank on June 14 was carrying around 700 people when it only had the capacity to carry 400 passengers. "Among these, the number of Pakistani passengers on board, as per the information that we have received so far, is approximately 350," he said, adding that 82 deceased Pakistani victims had been recovered.

The minister said that 12 Pakistanis were among the total of 104 people who had survived. Sanaullah said that the identification of the dead was going on and may take several days if not weeks and warned that the number of deceased may go up.

Sanaullah said that 281 families have contacted the government to know about the victims and the government so far has collected 193 DNA samples. The repatriation of bodies would follow once identification was completed.

The minister also rejected the idea that people from Pakistan illegally migrate by saying that about 99% leaving for Europe adopt 'legal means' but upon reaching countries such as Egypt, UAE, and Libya, they tend to opt for illegal routes.

Sanaullah revealed that the prime minister has established a committee to investigate the incident. "I assure the house that we will spare no efforts, and a comprehensive set of recommendations will be proposed by the probe committee, which the government will diligently implement," he said.

He also promised to further tighten laws to curb the practice of illegal movement of people to Europe and other countries. The minister also announced to bring to law those involved in the heinous business of human smuggling.

Meanwhile, the Federal Investigation Agency (FIA) in its crackdown has arrested 27 alleged human traffickers and registered 70 cases against smugglers involved in the Greece boat tragedy.

$5,000-$8,000 paid by victims to smugglers

Officials say the victims paid the smugglers between $5,000 and $8,000 for the voyage. Greece has been widely criticised for not trying to save the migrants before the sinking in waters. Nine Egyptian men suspected of crewing the ship are in custody in Greece facing charges including participating in a criminal organisation, manslaughter and causing a shipwreck.

Pak's Dar slaps journo over question on IMF deal

ISLAMABAD

PAKISTAN'S Finance Minister Ishaq Dar has found himself at the centre of a controversy for engaging in a heated exchange with a journalist, who accused the politician of slapping him over a question about the stalled IMF deal.

The incident occurred on Thursday when Dar was leaving the parliament premises after addressing a National Assembly session when he was approached by journalist Shahid Qureshi, Dawn reported.

In a video that has gone viral on social media, the reporter can be seen asking Dar if he would be willing to talk and the minister responded he had just finished speaking.

Qureshi then inquired about the progress of the stalled IMF programme and referred to PM Shehbaz Sharif's recent meeting with IMF Managing Director Kristalina Georgieva.

While Dar did not reply to the questions, the journalist persisted and questioned the government's failure to secure the $1.1 billion deal from the IMF. Dar then retorted that the deal could not be cracked "because people like you are in the system." The journalist defending himself asserted that reporters were not part of the system but merely asked questions. At this point, Dar became visibly angry and confronted the journalist, asking him what he wanted and telling him to "fear God." Dar then attempted to snatch the journalist's mobile phone and instructed security personnel to seize and throw away the mobile phone.

The journalist later released another video in which he provided a detailed account of the incident and claimed that Dar's security guards had grabbed him and the minister slapped him. "They grabbed me from both sides after which Ishaq Dar slapped me," the journalist claimed. "While leaving, Dar told his security officers to follow me and teach me a lesson, those officers followed me till I reached the second floor of the Parliament...," Qureshi added.

In response, Parliamentary Reporters Association, issued a statement, expressed strong disapproval of the violence and disrespectful behaviour exhibited by Dar's guards. PTI

THAIS CHARGED OVER MASS GRAVE CAMPS

Four Thai nationals were charged on Friday under Malaysia's anti-trafficking laws in connection with the 2015 discovery of mass graves believed to be of Rohingya Muslims and Bangladeshis held in camps in a hilly jungle area. Home Minister said that the four were among 10 Thai citizens the government had sought for extradition in 2017 over the tragedy at Wang Kelian in northern Perlis state. The four men were escorted on Friday by armed police to a lower court where they were charged with human trafficking, which carries up to 15 years in prison upon conviction

Zambia seals deal with China to restructure $6.3 bn in loans

PARIS

ZAMBIA and its government creditors, including China, have reached a deal to restructure $6.3 billion in loans, the French government announced on Thursday on the sidelines of a global finance summit.

The agreement covers loans from countries including France, the UK, South Africa, Israel and India as well as China—Zambia's biggest creditor at $4.1 billion of the total.

The deal, announced by officials who spoke anonymously, may provide a roadmap for how China will handle restructuring deals with other nations in debt distress.

Zambia became Africa's first coronavirus-era sovereign nation to default when it failed to make a $42.5 million bond payment in November 2020.

The debt has prevented the democratic nation from developing economically and taking on new projects.

US Treasury Secretary Janet Yellen welcomed news of deal. "I saw firsthand how the weight of default and a stalled debt restructuring process can bring suffering to ordinary families and hold back economic growth," Yellen said.

Full details of the deal weren't announced. The French officials said Zambia's debt would be reorganised over 20 years, with a three-year grace period. It also includes a clause aimed at ensuring that Zambia gets similar treatment from private creditors, who hold an additional $6.8 billion in loans to Zambia.

"Private creditors know they're going to need to restructure (the debt), they have been warned they'll need to make a similar effort," a French official said.

A memorandum of understanding (MoU) is expected to formalise the deal in the upcoming weeks. AP

MEDICAL CARE

Biden to sign order boosting contraception access in US

WASHINGTON

US President Joe Biden will sign an executive order on Friday aimed at strengthening access to contraception, the White House said, a year after the Supreme Court overturned the constitutional right to abortion.

Friday's executive order will give women with private health insurance under the government-subsidised Affordable Care Act access to all Food and Drug Administration-approved contraceptives, the White House said. "In the last year, women have been denied essential medical care to preserve their health and even save their lives," the White House said. "President Biden and Vice President Harris stand with ... Americans who believe the right to choose is fundamental—and who have made their voices heard at every opportunity since the Supreme Court's decision," it added.

Meanwhile, the US Supreme Court, in a victory for the Biden administration, on Friday, upheld the government's right to decide which undocumented migrants should be targeted for deportation.

In an 8-1 vote, the nation's highest court ruled that the states of Texas and Louisiana lacked the legal standing to challenge the federal government's policy. Texas and Louisiana filed suit after the Department of Homeland Security, in September 2021, instructed US Immigration and Customs Enforcement (ICE) to concentrate expulsion efforts on persons who "pose a threat to national security, public safety, and border security."

Defending the policy of Biden's administration, Solicitor General Elizabeth Prelogar said the government has to prioritise its efforts because it does not have the resources to pursue the 11 mn undocumented "noncitizens" in country. AFP

U.S. WARSHIP TO VISIT VIETNAM'S DA NANG

An American aircraft carrier was due to make a port call in Vietnam on Sunday—a rare visit by one of the US Navy's biggest ships that comes as Washington and Beijing both step up efforts to bolster ties with Southeast Asian nations

ARRIVAL OF USS RONALD REAGAN

The USS Ronald Reagan, a nuclear-powered Nimitz-class aircraft carrier, was scheduled to arrive in Da Nang on June 25 and stay through June 30, making use of a port that was modernised and expanded by the US during the war in Vietnam

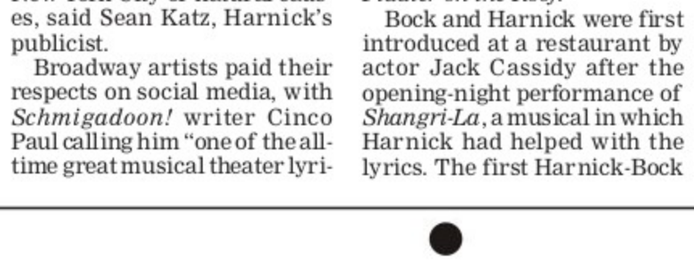
It will be only the third such visit by an American aircraft carrier since the end of the hostilities

CELEBRATING 10TH ANNIVERSARY

The USS Ronald Reagan's visit comes as the US and Vietnam celebrate the 10th anniversary of their "comprehensive partnership," with the two countries sharing increasingly close trade links as well as concern over China's growing strength in the region

Recently, Vietnam has received visits from naval vessels from different countries, and this time it will be a visit from the USS Ronald Reagan. This is a normal friendly exchange for the sake of peace, stability, cooperation and development in both the region and the world.

Pham Thu Hang, Foreign Ministry spokesperson



SEVERAL EVENTS

The visit by the warship lasts until June 30 and includes a number of cultural and community events, such as a concert by the US Navy band, a visit to an orphanage and sports matches

Conflict between Wagner and Russian military impacting war

MOSCOW

THE video was shocking—not just for what it showed but also for what was said.

Yevgeny Prigozhin, the outspoken millionaire head of the private military contractor Wagner, stood in front of the bloodied bodies of his slain troops in Ukraine and yelled insults at Russian military leaders, blaming them for the carnage.

"They came here as volunteers and they died to let you lounge in your red wood offices," Prigozhin shouted. "You are sitting in your expensive clubs, your children are enjoying good living and filming videos on YouTube. Those who don't give us ammunition will be eaten alive in hell!"

It was a disquieting display for Russians used to more than two decades of rigidly controlled rule by President Vladimir Putin—years with little sign of infighting among his top lieutenants.

Prigozhin's video in May and his other rants against the military leadership have been met with silence from Putin, as well as the brass.

Prigozhin's feud with military leaders goes back years, and it spilled into the open amid the fighting for Bakhmut that was spearheaded by his mercenaries. He scathingly criticised Defence Minister Sergei Shoigu and the chief of the General Staff Gen. Valery Gerasimov, as weak and incompetent in mocking statements full of vulgar language.

At one point, he even alleged the army planted mines on the route his fighters planned to use and opened fire at them.

Meanwhile, Moscow's forces are retreating in Ukraine's east and south following Kyiv's counteroffensive, Prigozhin said on Friday.

The comments contradict recent assessments by Putin that Ukraine was suffering "catastrophic" losses and that there was a lull in fighting.

"On the ground now ... the Russian army is retreating on the Zaporizhzhia and Kherson fronts. The Armed Forces of Ukraine are pushing back the Russian army," Prigozhin said on social media. Agencies

STAR OF BROADWAY

'Fiddler on the roof' lyricist Sheldon Harnick dies

NEW YORK

TONY and Grammy Award-winning lyricist Sheldon Harnick, who with composer Jerry Bock made up the premier musical-theater songwriting duos of the 1950s and 1960s with shows such as Fiddler on the Roof, Fiorello! and The Apple Tree, has died. He was 99.

Known for his wry, subtle humor and deft wordplay, Harnick died in his sleep on Friday in New York City of natural causes, said Sean Katz, Harnick's publicist.

Broadway artists paid their respects on social media, with Schmigadoon! writer Cinco Paul calling him "one of the all-time great musical theater lyricists" and actor Jackie Hoffman lovingly writing: "Like all brilliant persnickety lyricists he was a pain in the tuchus."

Bock and Harnick first hit success for the music and lyrics to Fiorello!, which earned them each Tonys and a rare Pulitzer Prize in 1960. In addition, Harnick was nominated for Tonys in 1967 for The Apple Tree, in 1971 for The Rothschilds and in 1994 for Cyrano—The Musical.

But their masterpiece was Fiddler on the Roof.

Bock and Harnick were first introduced at a restaurant by actor Jack Cassidy after the opening-night performance of Shangri-La, a musical in which Harnick had helped with the lyrics. The first Harnick-Bock musical was The Body Beautiful in 1958.

Sheldon Harnick

"I think in all of the years that we worked together, I only remember one or two arguments — and those were at the beginning of the collaboration when we were still feeling each other out," Harnick, who collaborated with Bock for 13 years, recalled in an interview with The Associated Press in 2010. "Once we got past that, he was wonderful to work with."

They would form one of the most influential partnerships in Broadway history. Producers Robert E Griffith and Hal Prince had liked the songs from The Body Beautiful, and they contracted Bock and Harnick to write the score for their next production, Fiorello!, a musical about the reformist mayor of New York City.

Harnick was born and raised in Chicago and earned a bachelor's degree in music from the Northwestern University. AP

Russia's 'squatter' diplomat sparks standoff in Australia

CANBERRA

A suspected Russian diplomat is apparently squatting on the site of Moscow's proposed new embassy in Canberra after the Australian government vetoed the plan on security grounds.

PM Anthony Albanese dismissed the Russian act of defiance in occupying the site, saying that a "bloke standing in the cold on a bit of grass in Canberra is not a threat to our national security."

A man has been living on the site in a portable building since Sunday, when passersby first saw Australian Federal Police outside the fenced block in Canberra's Yarralumla diplomatic precinct.

The Russian Embassy refused to comment on media reports that the man seen smoking cigarettes outside the building was a Russian diplomat. The embassy also declined to explain why the man was on the site, saying, "The Embassy does not comment (on) this."

India, US decide to put a lid on six long-drawn trade disputes at WTO

India to also remove retaliatory customs duties on 28 US products like almonds and apples

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

INDIA and the US have decided to put an end to six of their long-drawn trade disputes at the World Trade Organisation (WTO), Commerce Minister Piyush Goyal said on Friday. The trade disputes were resolved during the ongoing visit of Prime Minister Narendra Modi to the US.

Out of these six disputes, three were initiated by India and three others by the US.

With this development, India will remove retaliatory customs duties on 28 American products like almonds, walnuts and apples. In 2018, the US had imposed 25% and 10% import duties on certain steel and aluminium products, respectively, citing national security reasons. In retaliation, India had imposed import duties on 28 items from the US. According to Goyal, the termination of these disputes will mutually benefit both the countries.

"We will now have to notify the WTO that we are settling the disputes bilaterally. The WTO will then have to take it on record. But in terms of our understanding, the six issues are closed," Goyal said. He also stated that the remaining disputes including that of poultry imports will be settled by the end of this year.

These tariff cuts will restore and expand market opportunities for U.S. agricultural producers and manufacturers, said Ambassador Katherine Tai, who is the United States Trade Representative.

The disputes filed by India include certain measures relating to solar cells and solar modules; export related measures and additional duties on certain products from the United States.

While the other three disputes that have been filed by the US are countervailing measures on certain hot-rolled carbon steel flat products from India; certain measures relating to the renewable energy sector; and certain measures on steel and aluminium products.

A joint statement issued by the US and India, stated that the two countries are looking forward to reconvening the India-US Trade Policy Forum before the end of 2023 to further enhance the bilateral trade relationship by addressing trade concerns and identifying further areas for engagement.

As per the joint statement, Prime Minister Narndra Modi also expressed India's interest towards being recognized as a Trade Agreements Act- designated country by the United States to promote trade and investment between two countries.

First made-in-India chip by Dec '24: Telecom minister

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

AS US-based chip maker Micron Technology announced its plan to invest $825 million to set up its semiconductor assembly and test plant in Gujarat, the government expects the company to manufacture the first made-in-India chip by December 2024.

While briefing the press on Friday, telecom minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said that many big names in the semiconductor industry have sent their enquiry, and India will soon have 4-5 large semiconductor fabrication, packaging and testing plants. "In the next six quarter we are anticipating that Micron Technology will start manufacturing the first made-in-India chips," said Vaishnaw.

They have the option to find a new technology partner or have the option to focus on a particular sector. They have the option to change the application as per the requirements of the industry

Ashwini Vaishnaw

Micron has already completed land acquisition, factory design work and tax compliance-related agreement. India approved the application of Micron, the world's fifth largest semiconductor manufacturing company under the government's 'Modified Assembly, Testing, Marking and Packaging (ATMP) scheme. The company will receive 50% fiscal support for the total project cost from the Central government and incentives representing 20% from Gujarat government. Subsequently, the total investment will be $2.75 billion, and it would generate up to 5,000 new direct and 15,000 indirect jobs in the next five year.

"When the semiconductor programme was launched in January 2022, we had a target to launch the first unit in the next 14-18 months. So the first unit is there and is on track and more units, including big chipmakers, will come," added the minister.

The government opened the application for ₹76,000-crore Production-linked Incentive (PLI) scheme in January 2022. The government had received only three applications then -- Vedanta-Foxconn joint venture, Next Orbit Ventures (which has partnered with Israel's Tower Semiconductor), and Singapore-based IGSS Ventures.

However, the government modified the scheme in May and asked for fresh applications. The minister said the market dynamics have changed a lot in the past two years as the electric vehicle industry has flourished and the telecom industry has grown. Earlier, there was a race for lowest nodes, but now the demand is for mature nodes. "They will have to modify the application. They have the option to find a new technology partner or have the option to focus on a particular sector. They have the option to change the application as per the requirements of the industry," said Ashwini Vaishnaw.

Govt has no plans to dilute stake in LIC, says top official

MONIKA YADAV @ New Delhi

THE government has no plans to dilute its stake in the Life Insurance Corporation (LIC) of India as of now, a top official told TNIE. He said that the Centre is holding non-deal roadshows in various countries including in the US to attract potential investors.

"The centre has no plans to sell its stake in LIC. However, we are conducting non-deal roadshows to connect with the potential investors," the official said. The government is worried about the volatile share price, which has been somewhat on a freefall for a long time.

"The focus of the roadshows is to update investors on LIC's performance like its financial results, future goals, and learn from industry experts. We are concerned about the low stock price of LIC despite its strong financials," the official further stated.

The officers of Department of Investment and Public Asset Management (DIPAM), Department of Financial Services (DFS), and LIC are travelling to various countries including the US to meet investors, the official added.

Non-deal roadshows are communication with investors even when the company is not going public.

On the fall in share prices of LIC, the official said," LIC has the largest market share in the insurance sector, more than 63%. The companies' financials are good. It's just the market perception which is impacting the stock price of LIC," the official stated. Meanwhile, another official said that the rumours in the market have led to massive fall in LIC share price and the investors' trust in the insurance behemoth got hampered.On Friday, the LIC shares closed nearly 3% lower at ₹623.80.

Price stability crucial for high sustainable growth: RBI

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

PRICE stability is crucial for high sustainable growth, said the Reserve Bank of India in its monthly bulletin released on Friday. Bringing inflation down will revive consumer spending, boost corporate revenues and profitability, it added.

"It is axiomatic that the path to high but sustainable inclusive growth has to be paved by price stability. Once this is realised, the trade-offs and dilemmas confronting the conduct of monetary policy fade away," noted the bulletin released on Friday.

Bringing down inflation, as well as market and household expectations of future inflation would be key to reviving private capital expenditure. The national accounts data and corporate results when read in conjunction clearly show that inflation is slowing down personal consumption expenditure, noted the bulletin.

"This, in turn, is moderating corporate sales and holding back private investment in capacity creation. Bringing down inflation and stabilising inflation expectations will revive consumer spending, boost corporate revenues and profitability, which is the best incentive for private capex," it said.

India's real GDP growth in the fourth quarter of 2022-23 at 6.1% was the highest among major economies of the world, noted the bulletin. As a result of six back-to-back hikes since May 2022 by the RBI, prices have begun to cool. The government has mandated the RBI to ensure retail inflation remains at 4 per cent, with a 2% margin on either side. The consumer price index-based retail inflation came down to 4.25% in May. The retail inflation rate dropped for the fourth month in a row in May, falling to 4.25% from 4.70% in April.

US probe news sinks Adani group shares, 10 scrips down

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

ADANI group shares plunged sharply on Friday with the flagship Adani Enterprises falling 10% as the US authorities are said to be looking into representations made by the port-to-power conglomerate to its American investors over allegations of stock price manipulation raised by the short-seller Hindenburg Research.

According to a media report, the US Attorney's Office in Brooklyn (New York) has sent inquiries in recent months to institutional investors with large holdings in the conglomerate. The requests for information were focused on what Adani Group told those investors.

Reacting to the report, Adani Group said that they are not aware of any such subpoena to investors.

"We strongly reject any suggestion that Adani Group and its businesses have not acted as per the regulations and accounting standards of the jurisdictions in which they operate," said an Adani Group spokesperson.

The spokesperson added that their various issuers groups remain confident that the disclosures are full and complete as disclosed in the relevant issuer offering circulars.

"We request the media to avoid needless speculation at this time and wait for SEBI and the Hon'ble Supreme Court to complete their work and submit their findings," said Adani Group.

Shares of flagship Adani Enterprises fell 10% to hit an intraday low of ₹2,163.30 on Friday before closing the session 7% lower at ₹2,229 on the NSE. Adani Transmission plunged 5.55% to ₹759.75 while Adani Ports settled 4.44% lower at ₹712.50.

Adani Total Gas hit a fresh 52-week low ₹630 before closing 3% lower at ₹636, and Adani Power slipped 5.49% to ₹242.50. Adani Wilmar tanked 3%, Adani Green 2%, ACC Cement 3%, Ambuja Cement 4.46% and NDTV 3.55%.

Following this bloodbath, the market capitalisation of the listed Adani Group companies fell back below the ₹10 lakh crore-mark for the first time in a month.

Adani Group, led by India's second richest person Gautam Adani, is facing one of its biggest challenges to come clean after Hindenburg in a report published on January 24 accused it of stock price manipulation via improper use of tax havens. The serious allegations, which had earlier wiped out the Group's m-cap by about ₹12 lakh crore, have been denied by the Adani Group.

'PAY ₹5.7 CR WITHIN 15 DAYS'

Sebi issues notices in Fortis Healthcare fund diversion case

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Mumbai

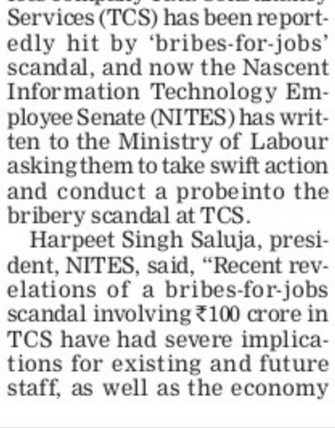
THE Securities and Exchange Board of India (Sebi) has sent notices to five entities asking them to pay ₹5.7 crore within 15 days in Fortis Healthcare's case of fund diversion and misrepresentations to conceal the fraud. In addition, the regulator warned of attachment of assets and accounts if they fail to make the payment within the stipulated time.

The five entities that received notices are Saubhagya Buildcon, Zolton Properties, Tiger Developers, Torus Buildcon and Rosestar Marketing.

The demand notices came after the entities failed to pay the fine imposed on them by the Sebi in May 2020. In five notices issued on Thursday, Sebi directed them to pay ₹5.7 crore, which includes interest and recovery cost, within 15 days.

In the event of non-payment of dues, the regulator will recover the amount by attaching and selling their moveable and immovable properties.

Besides, they will face attachment of their bank accounts.



Also, the regulator takes the route of arrest and detention in prison to recover the amount. Earlier this month, Sebi had issued demand notices to four entities in the same case. In May 2022, Sebi imposed penalties totalling ₹38.75 crore on 32 entities, including these five entities.

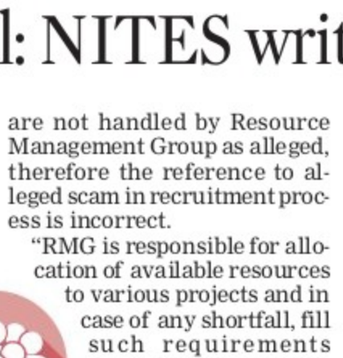
Electricity to cost 20% more during peak hours from April '25

RAKESH KUMAR @ New Delhi

CONSUMERS will have to pay 10%-20% more for usage of electricity during peak hours from 1 April 2025, according to the amendments made in the Electricity (Rights of Consumers) Rules. However, the tariff will be 10-20% lower than the normal tariff during the day time (solar hours).

The power ministry on Friday announced two changes in the Electricity (Rights of Consumers) Rules – introduced Time-of-Day (ToD) tariff, and rationalization of smart metering provisions. As per the ToD mechanism, power tariff during solar hours or day time will be 10%-20% less than the normal tariff, while the tariff during peak hours will be available at a premium of 10-20%.

The new tariff will be initially applicable for commercial and Industrial consumers with 10 KW and above consumption from 1 April 2024. For all other consumers except farmers, the rule will be applicable from 1st April 2025.



Time-of-Day tariff will be made effective immediately after installation of smart meters. "The ToD tariffs, which are separate tariffs for peak hours, Solar hours and normal hours, send price signals to consumers to manage their load according to the tariff. With awareness and effective utilization of the ToD tariff mechanism, consumers can reduce their electricity bill. Since solar power is cheaper, the tariff during the solar hours will be less, so the consumer benefits," said the power minister R K Singh.

During non-solar hours, thermal, hydropower and gas-based capacity is used. They cost higher than solar power, and this will be reflected in the Time-of-Day tariff. It means consumers can plan their consumption in order to reduce their power costs – planning more activities during solar hours when power costs are less.

Most State Electricity Regulatory Commissions (SERCs) have already implemented ToD tariffs, for large Commercial and Industrial (C&I) consumers. With installation of smart meters, the ToD metering at domestic consumer level will be introduced as per tariff policy mandate.

According to the new rules, load revision procedure has also been rationalised in a way that maximum demand would be revised upwards only if sanctioned load has been exceeded at least three times in a financial year. Moreover, smart meters will be read remotely at least once in a day and the data will be shared with consumers in order to enable them to make informed decisions on consumption of electricity.

Infosys says it is cooperating with Aus parliament inquiry

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

IT services company Infosys said it is no longer associated with the Australian consulting firm Synergy360. According to news reports, Infosys executive VP Andrew Groth said in a parliamentary committee hearing that his firm no longer engaged Synergy 360, had not been aware of anything untoward and that Synergy claimed they didn't have to register as a lobbyist organisation.

Australian media houses had reported that the tech company had paid $16 million to Synergy360. It was alleged that MP Stuart Robert helped the consulting firm and its clients including Infosys to win government contracts. The Joint Committee of Public Accounts and Audit (JCPAA) is investigating this possible "tainted contracts", reported an international news publication.Infosys in a statement said that it is committed to the highest level of compliance, integrity and ethical business practices across markets in which it operates.

RBI imposes penalty on Axis Bank, J&K Bank, Bank Of Maharashtra

Mumbai: The RBI on Friday said it has imposed a penalty of ₹2.5 crore on Jammu and Kashmir Bank for non-compliance with certain directions, including one related to 'time-bound implementation and strengthening of SWIFT-related operational controls'. A penalty of ₹1.45 crore was also imposed on Bank of Maharashtra for non-compliance with certain directions issued by RBI on 'Loans and Advances – Statutory and Other Restrictions' and Advisory on 'Man in the Middle Attacks in ATMs'. In another statement, the RBI said a penalty of ₹30 lakh has been imposed on Axis Bank. ENS

TCS bribe-for-jobs scandal: NITES writes to Centre

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Bengaluru

THE country's largest IT services company Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) has been reportedly hit by 'bribes-for-jobs' scandal, and now the Nascent Information Technology Employee Senate (NITES) has written to the Ministry of Labour asking them to take swift action and conduct a probeinto the bribery scandal at TCS.

Harpeet Singh Saluja, president, NITES, said, "Recent revelations of a bribes-for-jobs scandal involving ₹100 crore in TCS have had severe implications for existing and future staff, as well as the economy and the IT sector as a whole." According to reports, four executives from Resource Management Group of the company have been sacked and company blacklisted three staffing firms as it is alleged that the firms were involved in bribing senior executives who were overseeing recruitment processes.

TCS did not respond to TNIE queries regarding the scam and firing of four executives. Meanwhile, the apex body of the staffing industry, Indian Staffing Federation said that it has a stringent code of conduct for members.

In a BSE filing, TCS said, the recruitment activities in TCS are not handled by Resource Management Group as alleged, therefore the reference to alleged scam in recruitment process is incorrect.

"RMG is responsible for allocation of available resources to various projects and in case of any shortfall, fill such requirements through contractors," it said.

"By adhering to the code of conduct, ISF members are working towards creating formal employment for millions and ensuring the government receives the dues.

It urged stakeholders to consider engaging staffing companies that prioritise ethical employment practices and regulatory compliance.

When asked about the scam, Kamal Karanth, co-founder, Xpheno, a staffing firm, told TNIE that kickbacks are an unfortunate reality of high value and high-volume purchase of services and goods across many sectors. "This unethical practice is driven largely due to buyers and sellers choosing the fastest route with least resistance. This practice flourishes the most in supplier ecosystems that are highly fragmented and fast paced. Budgeting for kickbacks as part of costing in high value procurement deals is a known occurrence in many industries," he said.

England call up teenager Ahmed to Ashes squad

England added 18-year-old leg-spinner Rehan Ahmed to their squad on Friday for the second Ashes Test with concerns lingering about Moeen Ali's injured finger. Australia lead the five-match series 1-0 after winning a dramatic first test at Edgbaston on Tuesday by two wickets. The second Test starts Wednesday at Lord's.

BRIJ BHUSHAN, SON KARAN SET TO ATTEND WFI ELECTION

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

SPORTS minister Anurag Thakur might have assured protesting wrestlers that sidelined Wrestling Federation of India (WFI) chief Brij Bhushan Sharan Singh or his associates will not contest the election scheduled on July 11. But that doesn't mean Brij Bhushan, who is anyway ineligible to contest, will not cast his vote if the election is held.

The Uttar Pradesh Wrestling Association has nominated Brij Bhushan and his son Karan Bhushan Singh's names for the preparation of the electoral college to the returning officer Justice MM Kumar, retired chief justice from J&K High Court. Brij Bhushan, also a member of parliament from Kaiserganj (UP) from the ruling party BJP, is president of the UP association while Karan is vice-president of the federation.

"So far, he is set to attend the special general meeting scheduled on July 11 for conducting the WFI election. If the need arises, he will also cast his vote along with his son," a source closely associated with the outgoing WFI chief told this daily.

Eyebrows were raised when Brij Bhushan's son-in-law Vishal Singh's name was nominated for the electoral college by the Bihar Association. Vishal is the president of the state unit. However, the source claimed it will have no bearing on Brij Bhushan's nomination. "As per the WFI constitution, Brij Bhushan can attend the meeting and cast his vote as well. So far no objection has been raised over his name on the list. Let's wait till June 28 when the electoral college is published," added the source.

'No issue with Bihar unit'

Meanwhile, assistant returning officer Tapas Kumar Bhattacharya cleared the air regarding the Bihar unit and said, "There is no issue with Bihar state association." Speaking on the five parallel state units, that have claimed voting right, he said, "We will go strictly by law. Whatever names will come, we will scrutinise them and if found correct then they will be included in the electoral college. We have asked for documents and looking into constitutional provisions. These all will be placed before the returning officer Justice Kumar, who then will decide on it."

Bhattacharya also said Assam and Meghalaya units requested affiliation from the returning officer. "They want to be considered because they were never registered with the WFI earlier. But we can't decide on that, our mandate is to hold the election," he added.

Ad-hoc panel to meet experts for call on trials

FIROZ MIRZA @ Chennai

A DAY after its decision to hold one-bout selection trials for protesting wrestlers backfired, the ad-hoc committee has decided to hold a meeting with coaches Gian Singh and Ashok Garg on the issue on Monday. The coaches were nominated to the panel by the Indian Olympic Association (IOA) on June 8 to lend their technical expertise on the proposed Asian Games selection trials and other sports activities. Ironically, the panel preferred to go ahead with its proposal to organise two-stage selection trials for Asiad and World Championships without taking these coaches into confidence.

"Bhupender Singh Bajwa, one of two members of the ad-hoc committee, wanted to discuss the issue with us. We are expected to meet him on Monday. The Asiad trials will definitely be on the agenda. Anything related to it will be decided after the meeting," Gian told this daily.

The proposal to organise two-stage selection trials was reported by this daily a few days back. The proposal apparently was aimed at giving some preparation time to wrestlers who had staged a protest against the outgoing chief of the Wrestling Federation of India (WFI). As per the proposal, it was decided that the selection trials to pick Asiad and Worlds teams will be held by June 30 for all wrestlers except those who protested as the IOA has to send the list to the Olympic Council of Asia (OCA) latest by July 15. The ad-hoc committee then wanted the six protesting wrestlers — Bajrang Punia, Vinesh Phogat, Sangeeta Phogat, Sakshi Malik, Satywart Kadian and Jitender Kinha — to take on the winners of their respective weight categories in the second trial to decide on the final list for the Asiad.

The proposal, however, was met with stiff resistance from coaches and parents of other wrestlers. Talking to this daily, a few coaches and parents slammed the proposal saying it would be unfair on their wards if the panel went ahead with the decision. One of the parents, Dayanand Kalkar, even spoke to Bajwa on Friday expressing his apprehension about the proposal. Dayanand is the father and coach of wrestler Sujeet, who competes in 65kg, the weight category of the Tokyo Olympic bronze medallist Bajrang Punia.

Vikas Bhardwaj, Antim Panghal's childhood coach from Baba Lal Das Kushti Academy, Hisar, echoed similar sentiments. Antim, India's first-ever U-20 world champion, competes in 53kg, the weight category two-time Olympian Vinesh has made her own with her consistent shows over the years. He has also explained how such privileges given to senior wrestlers can affect upcoming grapplers both physically and mentally. "Antim will first have to overcome challenges from other wrestlers in the first trials. She will have to maintain her weight before the first trials. If she wins there, she has to do the same before the trials against Vinesh later. It can affect her physically. Even if she wins the first trial, she will be under tremendous pressure as she knows she has to win another trial against Vinesh," he had said.

Bajwa remained incommunicado despite repeated attempts.

BCCI kicks transition can down the road

In name of looking forward, senior batter Pujara dropped but other moves not keeping with skipper Sharma's post final promise

SWAROOP SWAMINATHAN @ Chennai

THE Board of Control for Cricket in India (BCCI) have once again played it safe at the time of selecting a squad before a Test series. The two-match Test series against the West Indies, beginning of next two-year WTC cycle, offered the board a clean slate. Yet, they have spurned the opportunity.

Sure, people may point out towards the exclusion of Cheteshwar Pujara as the first sign of transition but it's not the first time that he has been dropped. Ajinkya Rahane, who was below Pujara in the scheme of things (Rahane is without a central contract while Pujara has one), not only figures in the squad but he has been named vice-captain for the trip.

You can't be serious about transition if you plan to appoint a 35-year-old as the vice-captain, a posting normally reserved for a future leader. But then, this is just what the BCCI are prone to do. In December, they had elevated Pujara to the role as vice-captain for the away series against Bangladesh after Sharma had to return home following an injury. Rahane was below even Suryakumar Yadav in the pecking order in the longest format as late as three months ago but now, Yadav is not even part of the Test squad.

In other words, they have resorted to playing their favourite game: musical chairs with Pujara and Rahane while keeping everyone else onside. In most sports, teams decide to pick a team for the next cycle, especially after a seeming era-ending loss. Curiously enough, the BCCI have picked a team

Ruturaj Gaikwad

just keeping in mind the two-match series against West Indies. With India's next Tests scheduled to be in South Africa and at home to England, the smart thing would have been to utilise the softer landing of the Caribbean to blood a few players.

After promising to bring in fresh faces, it's likely that four of the top five that started the WTC final will feature in both Tests against West Indies. While Yashasvi Jaiswal is in line to make his debut, Ruturaj Gaikwad will likely warm the bench, at least in the short turn. In short, when India lines up for the national anthem at Dominica on July 12, at least six of the first XI will be 34 or over. In short, they have decided to once again kick the full transition process down the road.

This isn't what Sharma had said when he was speaking to the media in one of the indoor cricketing facilities after the loss against Australia. "Any tournament you play, you start looking at what possibly you can do moving ahead," he had said less than two weeks ago.

"Obviously, there will be some talks around it and we will see whatever is required and whatever is best, whatever the brand of cricket we want to play in the next two years. Who are the guys who can do that role for us? That is the question that we need to find answers for. There are a lot of guys, there are a lot of players who are doing really well in our domestic cricket as well. It's just about finding them and giving them that space, enough time to go forward and do the job for us. It's all about that. The focus will be on that."

After saying a lot of guys 'are doing really well in domestic cricket as well', the selectors, headed by interim chair SS Das, have for reasons best known to themselves, ignored most of them (there will be no answers forthcoming because there will be not be a single press conference). Take the case of Sarfaraz Khan, who has amassed 1538 runs in 12 matches across the last two Ranji Trophies. The Mumbai batter leads a list of batters who have been ignored despite excelling in domestic cricket.

They have also adopted a similar approach when it comes to captaincy. Sharma will be 38 at the time of the WTC final in 2025. Officially, he's India's all format captain. Will he last till then?

In terms of bowling, Umesh Yadav has been dropped while Navdeep Saini has earned a recall. Mohammed Siraj will lead the pace attack as Mohammed Shami has been rested. Bengal pacer Mukesh Kumar is also in the squad but expect all three frontline spinners — the two Ravis, Jadeja and Ashwin, and Axar Patel — to play.

Batra-Sathiyan in WTT Contender semifinals

NEW DELHI: Indian mixed doubles pair of Manika Batra and G Sathiyan advanced to the semifinals of the WTT Contender tournament in Tunis after a straight-set win over German duo of Cedric Meissner and Yuan Wan on Friday. Batra-Sathiyan won 3-0 (11-8, 11-3, 11-8) in the quarterfinal match that lasted a little over 21 minutes. They face the Korean pair of Shin Yubin and Lim Jonghoon for a place in the final.

Prannoy loses in quarterfinals of Taipei Open

TAIPEI: Star Indian shuttler HS Prannoy suffered a straight-game loss to Hong Kong's Ng Ka Long Angus in the quarterfinals to end country's campaign at the Taipei Open Super 300 tournament here on Friday. The World No 9 Indian didn't quite find his rhythm, going down 19-21, 8-21 to fifth seed Ka Long in a lop-sided contest. Coming into the match with a 6-5 head-to-head record, third seed Prannoy matched his rival in the beginning but as the match wore on, he crumbled.

Zverev through to Halle Open semis

AFP @ Berlin

OLYMPIC gold medallist Alexander Zverev is through to the semifinals of the Wimbledon warm-up Halle Open, after defeating Chilean Nicolas Jarry on Friday. The 26-year-old German, who made it to the semi finals of this year's French Open, defeated Jarry in straight sets 7-5, 6-3.

Zverev will play in the semis for the third time. The German previously made it to the final of the Halle tournament in 2016 and 2017, losing to 10-time winner Roger Federer on both occasions.

Zverev will meet Kazakh Alexander Bublik in the semi finals on Saturday.

Bublik advanced earlier on Friday when Italian fourth seed Jannik Sinner withdrew hurt in the second set of their quarter final tie. Bublik won the first set 7-5 and was up 2-0 in the second when Sinner pulled out with a right leg injury. The Italian had taken a medical timeout at the end of the first set. He received treatment from a physiotherapist and played, and lost, two more games before pulling out.

Sinner, the 21-year-old world number nine, now faces a race against time to be fit for Wimbledon which starts in early July.

The match was the opening last-eight tie.

BIRMINGHAM: Venus Williams narrowly failed to reach her first WTA quarterfinal in four years as the American legend was beaten (6-3, 5-7, 6-3) by Jelena Ostapenko in the second round in Birmingham on Thursday. Williams had enjoyed her first victory over a top-50 opponent in four years on Monday.

Sri Lanka & Scotland enjoy big victories

AGENCIES @ Bulawayo

AFTER Lahiru Kumara skittled the Oman top-order, Wanindu Hasaranga polished the tail with a five-wicket haul to help Sri Lanka to a 10-wicket win in their World Cup qualifier at Bulawayo on Friday.

After opting to field first, Kumara reduced Oman to 4/20 inside 10 overs to give the 1996 champions a stranglehold. Ayaan Khan showed a semblance of keeping the innings together with 41 but, at the other end, Hasaranga was running through the side. In the end, he finished with figures of 5/13 in 7.2 overs. Chasing 99, openers Dimuth Karunaratne and Pathum Nissanka barely broke a sweat, completing the task in 15 overs. Karunaratne was unbeaten on 61 while Nissanka scored 37 not out.

In the other match in the Group, Scotland held UAE at bay to make it a three-way tie at the top, with Scotland and Sri Lanka having a game on hand over Oman. Scotland lost early wickets before the middle order consolidated with No. 4, Richie Berrington, making 127. Other cameos from the lower middle-order dragged them to 282. UAE lost the game by 111 runs.

SAFF CHAMPIONSHIPS

Upbeat Chhetri & Co face Nepal challenge

VISHNU PRASAD @ Bengaluru

FOR the Indian football team, the 2023 SAFF Championships are a series of progressively-tougher tests.

Their opener on Wednesday, against a Pakistan side still finding their way back into international football, was always going to be their easiest hurdle. Their match against Nepal at the Sree Kanteerava Stadium on Saturday though will be a bit tougher. Then comes Kuwait, their toughest opponent in the group.

The rankings gap between India and Nepal show how far Indian football has progressed in the last decade. The last time Nepal beat India was in the 2013 edition of the SAFF Championship. The rankings gap between the two teams was 20-odd back then, something which had narrowed down to just seven by early-2015. But since then, India has improved, qualifying for back-to-back Asian Cups and being consistently ranked around 100. Nepal though has stayed in the same 160-170 bracket.

India beat Pakistan 4-0 in their opening match on Wednesday | EXPRESS

They do have every chance of springing a surprise though. Their recent games have featured some impressive performances, including wins over the likes of Bangladesh and Laos. And in Vincenzo Alberto Annese, they have a coach who is extremely familiar with Indian football and players. The Italian won two I-League titles with Gokulam Kerala before managing NorthEast United in the Indian Super League. Speaking after their 1-3 loss to Kuwait in the opener, Annese described the match as 'a final'.

India, on the other hand, will be looking forward to carrying on the momentum that they have built over an impressive recent few months. It has now been ten months and seven games since they last tasted defeat. Winning, as the adage goes, breeds confidence. And the more confidence this team gains ahead of the Asian Cup in January, the better!

While the result against Pakistan was impressive, coach Igor Stimac will look at the performance and see scope for improvement. While Pakistan rarely threatened, there were still times when Sandesh Jhingan and Pritam Kotal looked to not be on the same page. There may have been four goals but one was a gift from the opposition keeper while two others were penalties. In a match in which India hogged 70 per cent of the ball and made twice as many passes, they could have created a lot more. A similar performance on Saturday may not yield a similar result. Stimac though will not be on the bench for India against Nepal — his sending-off against Pakistan means that he will be banned from the touchline. He will be back for India's final group game against Kuwait.

A win will put India through to the knockout stages of the tournament. There might be another milestone to celebrate. Two goals for Sunil Chhetri will make him the joint all-time top scorer in SAFF Championship history.

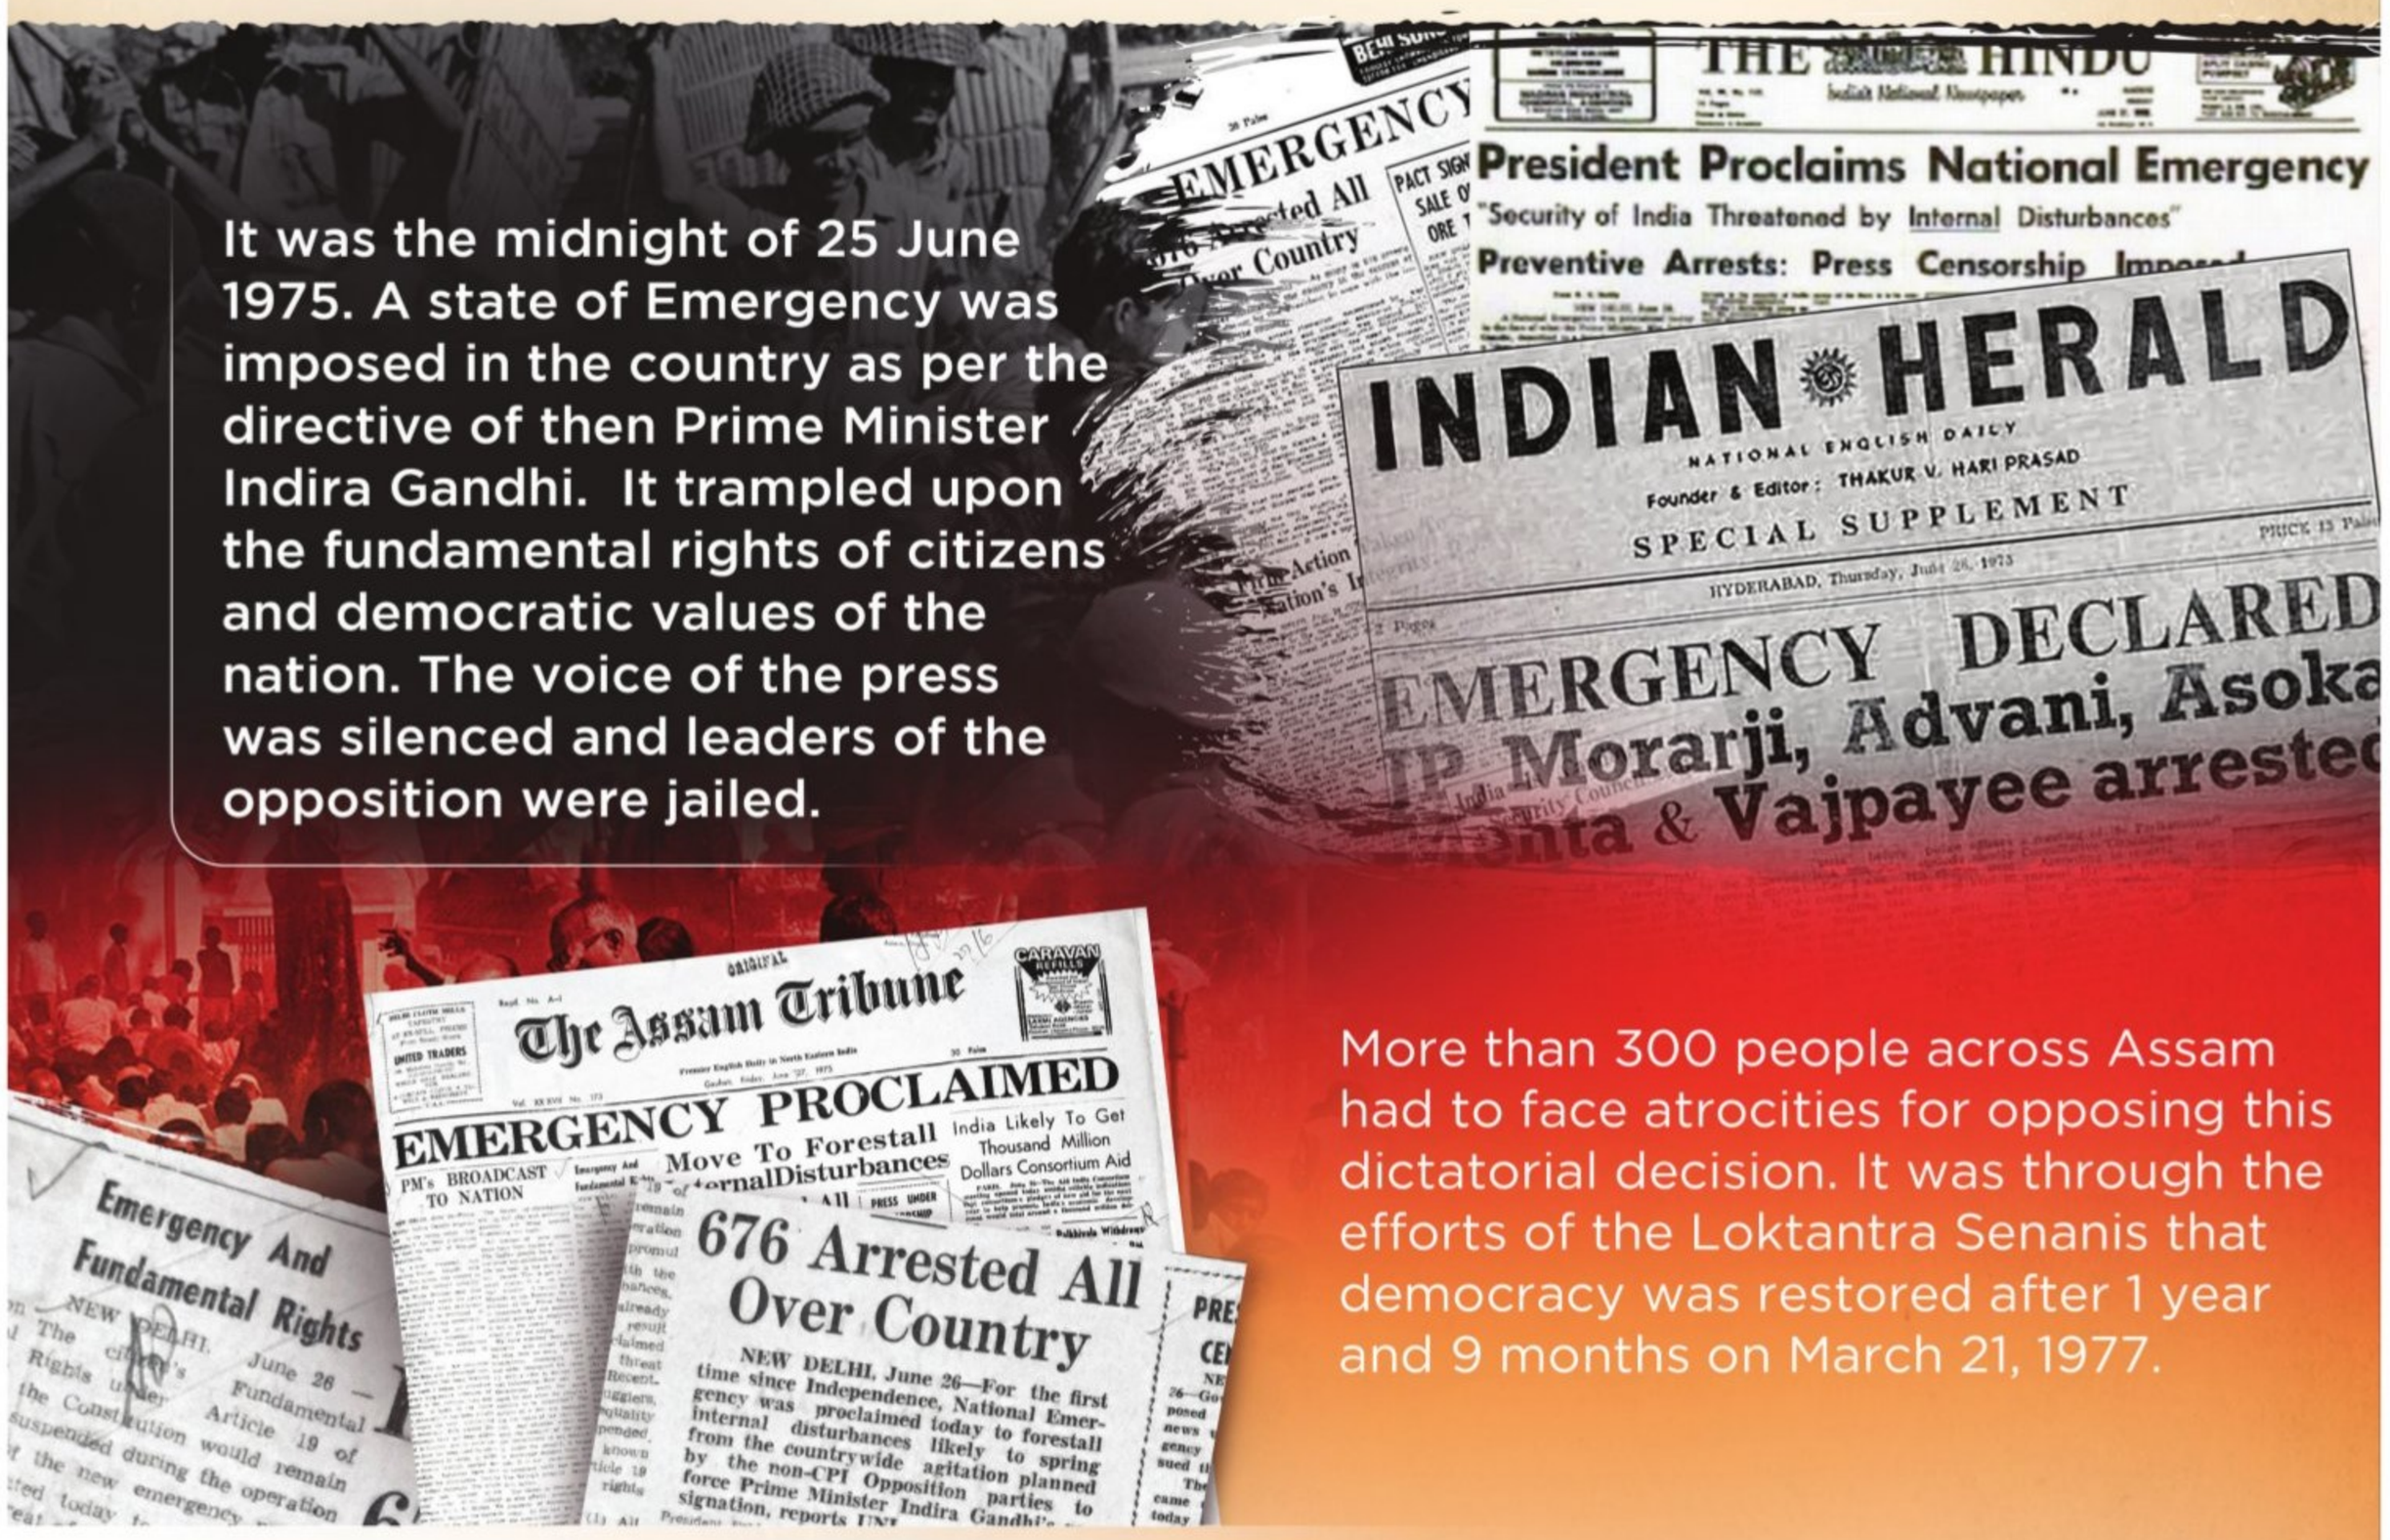
Heartfelt Tributes to our Loktantra Senanis

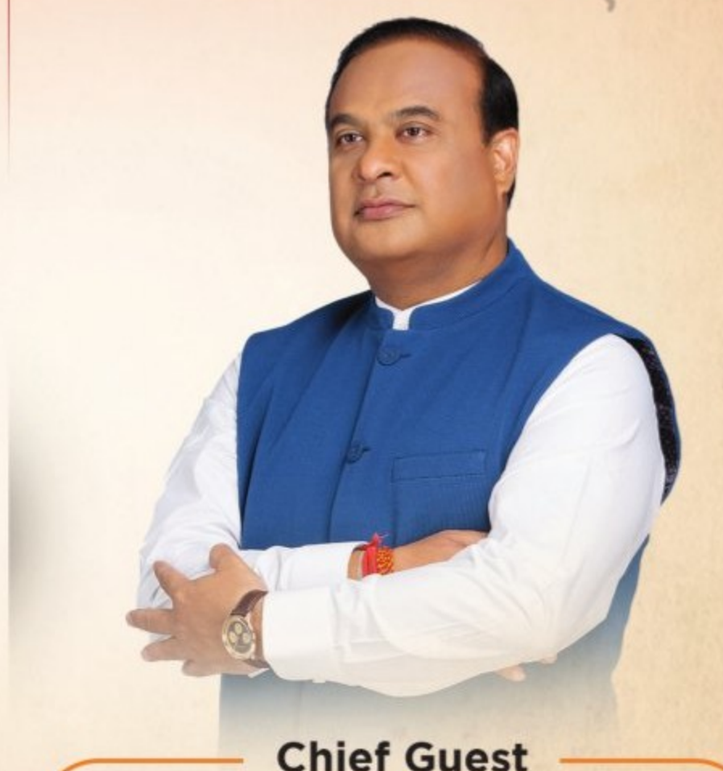


It was the midnight of 25 June 1975. A state of Emergency was imposed in the country as per the directive of then Prime Minister Indira Gandhi. It trampled upon the fundamental rights of citizens and democratic values of the nation. The voice of the press was silenced and leaders of the opposition were jailed.

More than 300 people across Assam had to face atrocities for opposing this dictatorial decision. It was through the efforts of the Loktantra Senanis that democracy was restored after 1 year and 9 months on March 21, 1977.

"Democracy is one of our sacred and shared values. Throughout history, one thing has been clear, democracy is the spirit that supports equality and dignity. Democracy is the idea that welcomes debate and discourse."

Shri Narendra Modi
Prime Minister, India



The Loktantra Senanis are an inspiration for India, the 'Mother of Democracy'. Govt of Assam has taken a humble effort to felicitate them at a special event.

Looking forward to your cooperation and gracious presence at the event

'B'LURU IS ONE OF THE MOST SPECIAL CITIES TO ME'

Bollywood singer and music director Amaal Mallik was recently in the city for a concert and speaks to CE about musicians he dreams of working with and supporting upcoming talented artistes

TUNIR BISWAS

BOLLYWOOD singer, composer and music director Amaal Mallik was recently in Garden City for a concert on his birthday on June 16. For Mallik, the city is close to his heart. "Bengaluru is one of the most special cities to me along with Ahmedabad and Kolkata. My music gets insane amounts of love here and it's one of the top cities where I am listened to. The crowd have always loved indie bands and rock music for several decades and now in the last few years, I would regard Bengaluru as one of the few cities that loves and responds to tasteful independent and Bollywood music alike."

The 33-year-old music aficionado has already won enough accolades and honours to last a lifetime. But despite the success, Mallik has a list of musicians he dreams to work with. "When it comes to international artistes, I have worked with Dua Lipa, Matteo Bocelli & U2 but it's a dream to work with the likes of Taylor Swift, Usher, Bruno Mars and for composers, working with Elton John and Hans Zimmer would be incredible. In India, even though I have been lucky enough to collaborate with wonderful musicians, I'd love to work with Hariharan, AR Rahman, Sunidhi Chauhan, Lucky Ali, Richa Sharma, Udit Narayan and Kumar Sanu, among others," he says.

> Through my label, I like to support all the musicians who want to release good music but have a difficult time finding listeners
> Amaal Mallik, musician

Recently the singer launched his 111th song Mohabbat. "The song is everything I've put my energies into and it's my best foot forward. But there are also a few film projects in the offing and I will talk about them when the time is right," he says.

While Mallik has been at the top for the better part of the past decade, he understands the need to promote newer artistes. "From my end, I try to promote musicians as much as I can. Through my label, I like to support all the musicians who want to release good music but have a difficult time finding listeners. I keep an eye out for artistes who truly put their blood and sweat to create melodies that manage to bring people closer and convey emotions that are not easy to express. I would like to tell all my fans to support all the young artists in our country who are putting their heart and soul in creating original music," he concludes.

Kaleidoscope of Love and Inclusivity

ASLAM GAFOOR

Bengaluru's Pride Month celebrations commenced with a vibrant display of colours and an overflow of love. This month-long festivity in the city serves as a platform for people from all walks of life to unite and honour the LGBTQIA+ community.

A standout event in this year's festivities is the dazzling celebration of queer freedom at The Lalit Ashok Bangalore, presented by The Lalit Suri Hospitality Group and the Keshav Suri Foundation. Born out of the 2016 Orlando nightclub shooting, the hotel group's #PureLove campaign aims to establish a safe space where everyone can socialise and feel embraced.

Kitty Ko, the nightclub at The Lalit Ashok Bangalore, has gained recognition as a platform for drag artists and a supporter of acid attack survivors from the LGBTQIA+ community. On June 24, the hotel will host India's largest pride event, the Absolut Ally Pride Night, featuring renowned artistes such as Rani Ko-HE-Nur and DJ Ma Faiza. The lineup also includes Seventeen Sins, Zeesh, Beyonce the Drag Queen, Drag Emperor Naaz, Drag King Neethu Vanajaksshi, and DJ Notorious. The celebration continues on June 25 with the Queerlicious Drag brunch, which offers an opportunity to meet, interact, and dispel myths surrounding the community while enjoying a menu adorned with rainbow-inspired delights. Additionally, the hotel offers luxurious pridecation room packages, which include breakfast, a major meal, and complimentary entry to Kitty Ko, among other perks.

The 15th edition of the nasscom Global Inclusion summit 2023, titled 'Real-world Actions for Mainstreaming Inclusion', will take place on June 27 and 28 at Radisson Blu Marathalli. The forum will focus on three areas: The Board Room Commitments, Learning to Unlearn—An organisation's journey to Mainstreaming Inclusion, and, Technology for Inclusion. Registrations open at nasscom.in/inclusion-summit.

Out & Equal's '2023 LGBTQI+ APAC Forum: A Day of Transformation' conference will be held on July 11 at The Ritz-Carlton, Bangalore. This premier workplace inclusion event in the Asia Pacific region aims to bring together LGBTQI+ and ally workplace inclusion professionals for a day of learning, trailblazing discussions, and peer-to-peer workshops. Register at outandequal.org/apac.

SOCIAL, an urban hangout, has played a crucial role in fostering inclusivity and providing safe spaces for individuals in the LGBTQIA+ community to engage, express, and influence culture. Recently, Indiranagar SOCIAL hosted the seventh edition of Satrangi Mela, a cultural festival that promotes queer-owned businesses. The festival also featured an Open Artist and Drag Showcase with Count Kahlo, Emperor Naaz, and Bloody Kamina. Moreover, The Forest at The Den Bengaluru has been home to Pride Month events featuring drag queens from across the country, organised by Dude Party.

FIT BIT

MARICHYASANA C HASTA

(SAGE MARICHI POSE C HAND)

This is a seated twisting yoga pose that involves the engagement of the spinal muscles and emphasises deep breathing to open the chest and shoulders. It is beneficial for improving flexibility and mobility of the spine.

STEPS

- Start seated in Dandasana (Staff Pose).
- Keep your palms on the side of your hips, pull the navel in and support the back.
- Shoulders are rolled back and down, away from ears. Breathe for a few seconds.
- Bend your right knee and keep your right foot close to your left thigh.
- Place your right palm behind your back, slightly away from your hips.
- Inhale. Lift your left arm, lengthening the spine. Exhale. Twist the spine towards the right with your left arm extended.
- Place the left outer upper arm on outer right knee. Slightly push towards the left. Look over your right shoulder as far as possible.
- Keep your left palm pointed upwards.
- Hold the pose for at least 10 counts.
- Inhale. Return to original position. Repeat on the other side
- As a counterpose, bend both knees and slide your heels towards the hips, roll your head towards the left and right gently few times. Relax.

BENEFITS

- Opens up shoulders and relieves tension.
- Strengthens the abdominal muscles.
- Aids in reducing belly fat.
- Stretches the hips, strengthening the legs.
- Stretches the intercostal muscles, which improves breathing.
- Correct the posture of the back.
- Improves mobility, flexibility, and strength of the spine.
- Creates space between the vertebrae and hence aids flexibility.
- Helps in focus, confidence, and stability.
- Prevents unnecessary pulling of the SI joint.
- Stimulates and soothes the nerves around the spine.
- Provides a calming effect in the brain.
- Removes sluggishness from the internal organs.
- Helps in building better digestion, and addresses issues related to Irritable Bowel Disease (IBD).
- Helps in addressing hip misalignment.

LIMITATIONS

Avoid this pose if you are recovering from a back, hip or knee injury.

Those who are recovering from surgery of any internal organs, have spondylitis of any part of the spine, pregnant women, must consult with a yoga expert before practising the pose.

THE HEART WANTS WHAT IT WANTS

RUBINATIONS
Rubi Chakravarti
Writer, actor and funny girl

IT'S really amazing how your mood changes with the small things in life. Me? I am my happiest best around family and friends like family. As I grow 'less-young' my expectations from life have decreased. Small things give me great pleasure. A clean home, my staff arriving every day, a great home-cooked meal, aimless chatter with my besties on the phone, a new video or picture of my 'munchkin', a lazy swim, a good book and no work!

I have come to a place in my existence where indifferent work gives me an overwhelming sense of ennui. Any piece of work (could be mundane like re-doing my home or exciting like making a new training-module for some highfalutin corporate client), must excite me. My attention span has wavered while my attention to detail has remained intact. Ah well! I'm not in a tearing hurry to do anything. If I paid an arm and a leg to live in pristine surroundings, burning my candle at both ends, when I was younger, then I definitely owe myself this 'indulgent-luxury' of doing 'what I want when I want'!

I was expectantly waiting for my daughter's family plus the nanny to arrive. My granddaughter is at a very interesting stage of her development and I marvel at all the things she picks up so effortlessly. My home has been washed, cleaned disinfected for the little 'crawler' while the fridge has been stocked with every imaginable fruit, veggie and poultry! In between driving myself mad, I suggested to Madhav and Simran Sehgal and their young kids to do a family-style dinner at my good friend and superlative chef, Kanishka Batra's new avant-garde place, 'Navu'. Kanisha is a super-talented and self-effacing person who lets her food talk for itself. She has shifted and re-opened recently and finding her new place tucked away in the old quarter of our 'Luru', was an adventure in itself. Though the restaurant was very simple, the gleaming stainless steel kitchen catches your eye. Even my trained hospitality friends straightaway made a bee-line towards the well-stocked kitchen, marvelling at its cleanliness. I was pleasantly surprised to see the restaurant packed to its gills, while the lovely Kanisha handled both the kitchen and her friends seamlessly. Needless to say, we were all very happy.

Sometimes people think I am 'unfashionably' snooty. That is farthest from the truth! Sometimes I can still feel my mom looking disapprovingly at me from the heavens! We were brought up within a strict parameter of civility where boorishness and rudeness was a big 'no-no'! Therefore I look upon with great amusement, loud waspish behaviour, where talking loudly with a mouthful of food is looked upon with indifference.

That's what brings me back to genteel people in genteel surroundings. We were invited to meet up with a familiar face, Amit Khare at The Oberoi; he has taken over as a GM after a long stint in Delhi. The intimate group who were invited to meet up and chat with him while enjoying a spectacular array of 'bonne-bouche' by the very talented chef Randy Cultivo were a raucous bunch. The relaxed afternoon meandered into an early evening when we reluctantly wound our way home.

The heart wants what it wants...

REAL STAR UPENDRA TO COLLABORATE WITH DIRECTOR NAGANNA FOR EPIC KANAKA DASA BIOPIC

The director shares details about the project in the making that will see the Real Star in two distinct looks

A captivating film, titled Bhakta Kanaka Dasa and directed by YR Swamy, featuring the legendary actor Dr Rajkumar in the lead role, was released in 1960. Now, a new film revolving around the life of the philosopher, Haridasa saint is in progress. This time, the Real Star Upendra will be taking up the challenging role of Kanaka Dasa under the directorship of Naganna. The latter known for his contributions to commercial entertainers as well as his remarkable work on historical and mythological films like Sangolli Rayanna and Kurukshetra, both starring the Challenging star Darshan, is all set to helm this biopic inspired by Kanaka Dasa's life. The script for the film has been meticulously crafted, by Naganna and the preparations are already underway. Filming for this project will commence once Upendra fulfils his commitments with his directorial film, UI.

Producers, who previously bankrolled the blockbuster A -- Jagannath's son, along with BG Manjunath will be bankrolling this project. Legendary composer, director Hamsalekha has also been finalised as the music director and is said to have already begun wroking on the project.

Director Naganna, when asked about the making of Kanaka Dasa, the director had some interesting details to share with CE. "Our Kanaka Dasa biopic beautifully merges history and devotion," revealed the director. "Having closely worked with Upendra, in films like Gokarna, Kutumba, and Gowramma, I am well aware of his exceptional versatility as an actor. He possesses the ability to flawlessly embody any role, and this subject will once again be a unique one." Naganna further revealed that Upendra's character will have two distinct looks, and the casting process for other vital characters, such as Purandara Dasa and Lord Venkateshwara, is currently underway. The director plans to kick off the project with title launch, expected to take place in July.

The director and team at Kaginelli

Through the story of Kanaka Dasa, Naganna intends to deliver a cinematic experience that intertwines elements of war, love, revenge, and societal issues, showcasing the transformative journey of Haridasa saint, the philosopher, and its impact on ordinary individuals. When asked about Upendra's reaction to the project, Naganna joyfully revealed that the Real Star was elated and thrilled when approached for the role.

Naganna recently visited Kaginelli, the birthplace of Kanaka Dasa, and has sought blessings from the seer to proceed with the project, and a picture of the visit was shared with us.

Naganna

The director strongly believes in the significance of bringing devotional films to the forefront of the 21st century. "Films that draw inspiration from history, mythology, and devotion hold tremendous significance for the present generation," emphasised Naganna. "I strongly believe in presenting narratives deeply rooted in our heritage for entertainment purposes and bringing history back into the limelight. That's why I embarked on projects like Sangolli Rayanna, and now, with Kanaka Dasa I aim to offer a broader perspective," he added.

An interesting filmmaking attempt, but a lesser cinematic experience

A SHARADHAA

BREAKING away from the conventional storylines, Road King stands as the first Kannada film to be entirely shot through video conferencing. With Hollywood director Randy Kent calling the shots from a distance using Skype, the film does manage to convey its message. But the film isn't clearly a cinematic experience the audience can cherish. However, the intriguing filmmaking strategy keeps us curious to check how actors are delivering the director's instructions. Set in the heart of Bengaluru, the story revolves around the theme of Obsessive Ex-Syndrome, depicting the struggle of individuals who find it hard to let go. We often come across stories of failed love in our daily lives, and this film brings forth one such real incident. But is the essence of the story effectively communicated?

ROAD KING
Director: Randy Kent
Cast: Mateen Hussain, Rukshar Dhillon, and Leela Mohan

RATING 2.5/5

Road King follows the life of Arjun (Mateen Hussain), an MBA graduate who prefers not to pursue a high-profile job. Instead, he excels in revamping second-hand bikes. Having lost his mother at a young age and distanced from his father, who resides in the USA, Arjun is a carefree youngster always surrounded by friends. He enjoys drinking and cherishing the present. Through a common friend named Riya, he meets Manasa (Rukshar Dhillon), and they instantly connect. They endearingly call each other 'Cousin' and 'Trouble', reflecting their growing affection, eventually leading to love. Unfortunately, their romance is cut short when Manasa's family opposes their relationship due to Arjun's profession, leading them to search for a suitable groom. Manasa tries to change Arjun's mind, urging him to take up a job. Arjun, willing to transform himself for Manasa, even attempts a 9-to-5 job but fails. Left with no choice and in a state of confusion, Manasa succumbs to her mother and brother's wishes and agrees to an arranged marriage. Love takes a tragic turn, and both Manasa and Arjun face the consequences, resulting in a sorrowful ending. Although the narrative is straightforward, stories that depict love with an unhappy ending always carry a tinge of pain. Director Randy Kent, overseeing the direction from a distance, has endeavoured to portray Arjun and Manasa's journey in the simplest manner possible without adding unnecessary drama. Apart from Rukhsar, who is familiar to audiences from her previous role in Run Antony, the remaining cast consists of theatre actors or non-artists making their debut, their performances are natural and devoid of exaggeration. The film presents the moments, emotions, aggression, and behaviour as ordinary occurrences. While this approach may be commendable, it fails to make a significant impact on the big screen. It also raises questions about the categorisation of films made through video conferencing. Nonetheless, one must appreciate the pioneering attempt. The film ends with a striking climax, which is depicted briefly, leaving little impact before the film concludes. Regarding the performances, Mateen immerses himself in his character but occasionally goes overboard. His conversations and chemistry with his co-stars feel genuine as if they are happening right before our eyes. Rukshar convincingly portrays a young girl caught between choosing love and abiding by her parent's wishes, an experience many girls can relate to.

The supporting characters provide solid backing, but the film primarily relies on the two lead actors. The music also plays a crucial role, and the sound engineer, Scott Wolf, has done a good job. DOP Arief Lalaani impresses with his aerial shots but he refrains from showing Bengaluru in a bright shade. The subject handled in the film can resonate with both teenagers and parents alike, but it is up to the audience whether they would enjoy such a love story. We can appreciate the team's attempt, to pull off this hard feat for a genuine subject. How if the director and a couple of technicians were actually there on the sets, making things quite effective. Nevertheless, Road King is an interesting attempt.

Arjun Sarja to launch Niranjan Sudhindra in Telugu

The actor will be paired alongside Aishwarya Arjun for a feel-good film

UPENDRA'S nephew, Niranjan Sudhindra, who started off his career with 2nd Half, which also featured Priyanka Upendra, and went on to work in Nan Huduguru Kathe is currently in the final stages of shooting for Hunter. The young actor is now set to make his debut in Telugu cinema and he will be collaborating with none other than Arjun Sarja, who will be directing and producing the project. The film stars Arjun's daughter, Aishwarya Arjun as the female lead. An official announcement along with the trailer will be released soon.

The film is said to be a bilingual made in Telugu and Kannada, and Niranjan is currently preparing for his character. He is scheduled to join the sets in July. Previously, there were reports of Arjun Sarja directing a film with Aishwarya making her Telugu debut. However, that project was put on hold. It is now rumoured that Arjun Sarja has worked on a new script and is ready to begin production.

The upcoming film is described as a feel-good movie with commercial elements, and Niranjan Sudhindra will be seen in two different looks. The major portions of the film will be shot in Hyderabad.

Meanwhile, Niranjan, who has an interesting lineup of films, is eagerly waiting to resume shooting for Superstar, which was halted midway. Currently, the actor is busy with Hunter, which is in its final phase. Niranjan has completed the dubbing process, and only a fight sequence and a song are pending. The makers are targeting a November or December release.

Shekar-Nakul Gowda's film titled Bad

CE FEATURES

NAKUL Gowda's upcoming film with director PC Shekar, has been titled BAD. Bankrolled by SR Venkatesh Gowda, this will be yet another experiment by the Romeo director

The team revealed the title, and Nakul Gowda's look from the film. Bad takes an unconventional approach with no traditional heroes or heroines, focusing on villainous characters instead. The story utilises the 'Rashomon effect,' a technique rarely seen in Kannada cinema, presenting different perspectives of the same narrative.

Bad will be Shekar's tenth directorial venture, and is in the last phase of shooting, and stars Manvitha Kamath as the female lead. Sachin B Halgundi, known for his work on films like Raaga and The Terrorist has penned the dialogues for the movie. While G Rajasekhar serves as the art director, Shakti Shekhar has handled the cinematography of the film.

A blend of action and drama in this quest for a missing body

A SHARADHAA

MURUGESH Kannappa, a former associate of A Harsha, makes his directorial debut with Agrasena. The film aims to portray the contrasting aspects of city life and village life, by focussing how cities have anti-social elements and indifferent authorities. It also challenges the belief that rural areas are completely free from these problems. Macroscopically, Aggrasena may be perceived as a typical action drama overall.

AGRASENA
Director: Murugesh Kannappa
Cast: Amar Viraj, Agasthya Balagere, and Rachana Dasharath

RATING 2.5/5

The core theme of Agrasena revolves around a father-son sentiment, primarily conveyed through action-packed sequences. The story follows Adishesha (Agasthya Balagere), who embarks on a quest to find his deceased father's body. The father Soorappa (Ramakrishna), and Adishesha hail from Ramdevapura, a village where the inhabitants strongly believe in avoiding the city at all costs. Soorappa, even goes to an extent and extracts a promise from Adisesha to never set foot in the city and imparts the same advice to his fellow villagers. However, unfortunate circumstances arise when Soorappa falls severely ill and requires treatment at a city hospital. Adisesha, torn between fulfilling his father's wish and ensuring his well-being, entrusts Amar Viraj, his father's manager's grandson, to take care of Soorappa in the city. Tragically, Amar Viraj takes advantage of the situation and misuses the entrusted money. The plot takes a dramatic turn when Soorappa is declared dead, and the body brought back to the village turns out not to be his.

Left with no choice, Adisesha reluctantly ventures into the city in search of his father's body. Along the way, he discovers Amar's misdeeds, including squandering the money entrusted to him. As a result, he takes away Rishika (Rachana Dasarth), Amar's love interest, and in return demands his father's body. The crux of the story lies in whether Adisesha will find his father's body, whether Amar will face the consequences of his actions, and whether he can reclaim his lost love. The second half of the film intensifies with action-packed sequences and emotional moments.

Agrasena skillfully presents the contrast between the village and the city, immersing viewers in the events surrounding Adisesha, his father, and their relationship. The unexpected twist involving the missing body becomes the central theme that propels the narrative forward. However, the film falls short in the second half, primarily due to prolonged fight scenes and excessive sentimentality, which may deter the interest of the audience. It is intriguing to witness senior actor Ramakrishna in a pivotal role, with the entire film revolving around his character. This marks his remarkable 200th film, and his experience shines through as he effortlessly portrays his role. On the other hand, Amar Viraj, gets to display his acting skills and dancing abilities. Agasthya Balgere, portraying Adisesha, shoulders a substantial role and delivers a strong performance, particularly excelling in the film's action sequences. Rachana Darsath's role, unfortunately, offers limited opportunities for her to showcase her talent, mostly confined to being a love interest.

The director had a compelling story at hand, shedding light on the disparities between city and village life. However, the inclusion of excessive action and violent scenes transforms Agrasena into a conventional revenge drama, deviating somewhat from its original premise.
